Two valley men hurt in plane crash

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

Two men were injured Tuesday afternoon when a plane crashed after simulating dead-stick landings in the Alta Loma area.

Thomas Kevin Petrakis, 22, of 8640 Holly Drive, Alta Loma, the pilot of the small Cessna 150 single-engine airplane, and his passenger, Daniel Waingrow, 19, of 555 W. Ninth St., Claremont, were both rushed to San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland for treatment of multiple injuries.

Both were later transported to Kaiser's Fontana hospital where authorities report Petrakis today is in satisfactory condition. Waingrow was treated and released.

According to West End Sheriffs deputies, the small aircraft crashed on a horse training lot owned by Les Miller at 11881 Highland Drive, Alta Loma, about 1:15 p.m.

Miller said he was working one of his horses when the horse suddenly bolted and his wife near the home told him to watch out, there was a plane coming down.

Miller said that "I looked up and saw the plane without its engine running make a half circle, dip its wings and cartwheel onto the training lot and land upside-down."

Miller said the plane hit less than 25 feet from where he was standing.

Deputies said that the horse trainer, his wife Pat, their son Jim and a friend Gerald Cordt of Cucamonga ran over to the damaged plane just as the pilot, Petrakis, crawled out of the cab.

Petrakis, his head bleeding profusely from a cut, told the Millers they had better call an ambulance as his passenger was injured.

Miller said that immediately after asking for the ambulance the pilot went into shock. Miller managed to pull Waingrow out of the plane and move him to safety.

Deputies said that Petrakis told them that he was practicing simulated "dead-stick" landings but was unable to re-start the engine.

FAA officials arrived at the scene and after examining the aircraft moved it off the training lot.

Deputies said the plane had damage to the engine, the propellor, the cowling and the left wing. One of the landing strips was torn off in the crash.

Bureaucratic 'infighting' hindering Expo signing

By ERIC RUFF
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Infighting and continuous "digging and probing" by Commerce Department officials is hindering quick recommendation of Expo 81 by President Ford.

The White House has had the department's official project report and a letter from Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson recommending approval pending establishment of certain financial material since Nov. 15.

White House spokesmen have given no indication when or if the president will act, and said examination of the Commerce material is "under no timetable."

A ranking Commerce official accused "underlings within the department" of maneuvering to get control of the agency's Expo 81 operation — thus clouding work on any recommendation.

"I know enough about the department that there are people who want to get this. They see the possibility of big salaries and big positions," said the official, who asked that his name be withheld.

The official said Commerce Department offices of Budget and Program Analysis and Policy Development were also hindering action on Expo 81 by continuing to raise questions even though Richardson submitted a favorable recommendation and the matter now rests with the White House.

Despite that, however, infighting at the department has continued over the somewhat critical Expo 81 report submitted in September by the department's United States Travel Service.

The report questioned some financial aspects of the proposed World's Fair.

On Nov. 17, two days after Richardson's recommendation was sent to the White House, the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris voted to sanction Expo 81 at Ontario Motor Speedway subject to President Ford's approval.

One White House spokesman said the short time available between receipt of Richardson's letter and the meeting in Paris had made it impossible for the President to make an immediate recommendation.

"It made the decision very difficult," said the official. But he predicted the "issue will be put before the President before he leaves office" although he was unable to determine how soon that might be.

Nader, once big Carter backer, is critical of selections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader, once an enthused Jimmy Carter supporter, is voicing disappointment in the President-elect's first appointments and in the people reportedly being considered for high posts.

Nader said the only difference between the Carter appointees and their Republican predecessors is their integrity. They will "follow the wrong policies straight instead of crooked," Nader said after speaking to a conference of public interest groups Tuesday.

Basing his comments on reports and published "lists" of people Carter is said to be considering for major jobs, Nader said the candidates for secretary of the Treasury are "the old line, establishment, money-centered people."

Bus-auto collision injures 17 in S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A Municipal Railway bus and a car collided Tuesday night injuring 17 persons.

Police said the accident happened at Third Street and McKinnon Avenue when a westbound car driven by Millie Ingram, 62, entered the intersection and collided with the bus, driven by Donald R. Jordan, 30.

Two ambulances took the victims to Mission Emergency Hospital with minor injuries, but no broken bones, police said. The injured included three persons from the car and 14 from the bus. All were treated

MUGGING VICTIM

Valerie Yohe, 23, sits in her wheelchair in which she was mugged on a downtown San Francisco street Tuesday with a friend, Lawrence Kelley, and her daughter, Raine, 6. It was the second time in six months it had happened, but she's determined to go out again.

Teacher's right to address board upheld by high court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled that a teacher's freedom of speech cannot be curtailed at a public school board meeting no matter who he represents or what views he espouses.

The court unanimously reversed a ruling by the Wisconsin Supreme Court that the Madison School Board had committed a prohibited labor practice by letting a non-union teacher talk during a board meeting in which collective bargaining was discussed.

The board appealed, contending that to deny teacher Albert Holmquist his say would have violated his First Amendment right to free speech.

"Where the state has opened a forum for direct citizen involvement, it is difficult to find justification for excluding teachers who make up the overwhelming proportion of school employes and are most vitally concerned with the proceedings," Chief Justice Warren E. Burger wrote in an opinion joined by other other justices.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. filed a concurring opinion in which Justice Thurgood Marshall joined. Justice Potter Stewart filed a separate concurring opinion.

The case grew out of a board meeting on Dec. 6, 1971 while negotiations were in progress between the school board and Madison Teachers Inc., which represented the teachers in collective bargaining.

Holmquist, a teacher who did not belong to Madison Teachers, was allowed to read a petition opposing a proposal that all teachers in the school district be required to help pay for the negotiations.

The teachers' group later complained to the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission, which ruled that the board committed a prohibited labor practice by "bargaining" with someone other than the exclusive bargaining agent.

The state supreme court upheld that ruling.

The board eventually agreed to accept contract terms proposed by the teachers' group, except for the provision proposed by Holmquist.

"Holmquist did not seek to bargain or offer to enter into any bargain with the board," the justices ruled today. "Although his views were not consistent with those of (the union), Holmquist should have been allowed to address the board," the court said.

"To permit one side of a debatable public question to have a monopoly expressing its views to the government is the antithesis of constitutional guarantees," Burger's opinion said.

Wheelchair victim determined not to let muggings whip her

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Valerie Yohe has been mugged twice in six months and on a third occasion aided another robbery victim, but she's not going to let that frighten her from going out on San Francisco streets — in her wheelchair.

It's not that she's fearless. But after five years of paralysis with a spinal injury from an automobile accident, Miss Yohe, 23, has achieved some independence — has learned to cope — and she's not going to give that up.

"I was scared to death," she admitted Tuesday, when a tall man grabbed her wheelchair on a Fifth Street sidewalk, pushed it into a nearby loading dock and held a knife to her throat.

He snatched her purse from her lap, took her wallet containing $102 and housekey, warned her that if she screamed he would slit her throat, and ran off into the night.

When he was gone, she wheeled to a telephone and called police. They could find no trace of her assailant.

"I'm afraid it's going to ruin my Christmas," Miss Yohe said. "I have a little girl, Raine — that's short for Vivian Lorraine — and her sixth birthday comes right after that in January."

Miss Yohe supports herself on state disability benefit payments and money she earns selling soap products. She has a comfortable little apartment in the South of Market area.

When she was robbed, she was on her way, about midnight, to a store five blocks away to buy hamburgers for herself and a visiting girl friend who was feeling ill and stayed in the apartment to babysit Raine, she said.

"I've learned from it," she said, "and I'll do a couple of things differently from now on."

"For one thing, I'll check my wallet to be sure I'm not carrying much money. I had intended to go to the bank Monday and forgot I had the $102 with me."

"For another thing, I'll have a dog with me. I bought a 5-month-old shepherd dog today."

Four months ago Miss Yohe was knocked out of her wheelchair by two youths who grabbed her purse containing food stamps and $15. In the other incident, she rammed her wheelchair into a man who was trying to rob another man in a rapid transit station, thwarting the holdup.

She said she hopes the rash of crimes recently in San Francisco doesn't make people "do something foolish and start carrying weapons they don't know how to use. They'll only get hurt having the weapons taken from them." Police have beefed up street crime fighting efforts in recent weeks, including placing officers on city buses and hiring more manpower.

NATO mulls stronger, new role for France

WASHINGTON (AP) — American authorities today are discussing the surprising possibility that NATO may form a four-power directorate that would restore France to a managing role in the military and strategic affairs of the 15-nation alliance.

Such a directorate was a dream of the late President Charles de Gaulle before he took France out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military system a decade ago.

It could become a reality in the near future, in the view of some Washington officials. They base their belief on the quiet policy of French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing to resume a growing military cooperation with the NATO allies.

The factor giving U.S. officials grounds for such hope is that the French have joined with European allies in efforts to standardize the research and development of armaments. That goal could save NATO an estimated $10 billion spent annually in duplicated weapons systems.

To assess the significance of this, the State Department recently sent an envoy to meet with representatives of European governments concerned.

Officially, few Giscard spokesmen are likely to acknowledge that France is moving slowly back into NATO's integrated military system. This is in deference to Giscard's reliance on Gaullist political support.

Inmates not overly excited about ruling

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — A reprieve from a death penalty is good news, but for the 65 Death Row inmates here it really wasn't anything to get excited about.

Quick-spreading word that the California Supreme Court had overturned the state's three-year-old capital punishment law prompted little outright rejoicing in the light green and beige cellblock.

"We were overwhelmed and happy at first, but really we had expected it for some time," said Charles Riley, sentenced to death for helping his girlfriend kill her parents.

Riley's comments were echoed by other inmates who said they couldn't get very excited about Monday's ruling because, either due to unfounded optimism or careful study of the law, they had expected the decision.

"It didn't surprise me because of the way the law was written," said Ron Turner, 35. "There was some yelling when we heard about it, but everything seemed to quiet down pretty fast."

"I feel great," said Dave Pederson, who confessed Tuesday's high court ruling marked the second time he had beaten the death penalty. Now in prison for a double murder conviction in San Bernadino, Pederson won a challenge to capital punishment in 1958 after being convicted of murder in New Mexico.

"It made me very happy," said Edward Conover, 38, "We had expected it because of the way the law was written. But still, I'm very pleased."

For Donald Barnard, the first man to arrive on Death Row after the now-defunct law took effect Jan. 1, 1974, Tuesday's decision was welcome, a complete switch from when he first arrived.

"Perhaps it's more meaningful for me than some of the others because when I first got here I was going to ask for the gas chamber right away," he said. "I didn't want to do the time, but now this ruling means I've got another chance."

Barnard, busy addressing Christmas cards as he talked to newsmen, said he first heard the news on the radio "but I had to wait and hear it a second time to realize what had happened."

Melvin Powell, 27, sentenced to die for a triple murder in Stockton, said it was "good news for those who want to live. There are some who are still despondent about the whole situation.

One inmate, who wouldn't give his name but said he was convicted of murder, claimed he was happy for some of the inmates but was unconcerned about what the decision meant for himself and some of the others.

"Some of the people in here deserve to die for what they did," he commented. "For myself, I guess if it wasn't me and I had to look at the case objectively, I'd say I deserved to die too."

Poly dedicates nation's first business center

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

The nation's first University Business Development Center to be dedicated at Cal Poly Pomona Thursday at 3 p.m. is the culmination of 10 year's work by university and business leaders.

"The university system and the business community will work together to produce significant improvements in the economy of the valley," said Reed M. Powell, dean of the School of Business Administration and an organizer of the new center.

The public is invited to the ceremony in the campus quadrangle.

The center represents a cooperative enterprise among the university, the business community, the U.S. Small Business Administration and the California State University and Colleges.

"While small businesses make up one-half of the economy, they have been ignored by leaders," said Powell. "The small businesses have great needs which are not being addressed by Americans in education or economic fields."

Powell said the center, which is a joint California State University and Colleges and Cal Poly project, will bring together government representatives, faculty, students, professionals and business leaders, both active and retired, to solve the problems of small businesses.

"We will directly attack the problems of unemployment, poverty and inflation emphasizing the ability of American private enterprise to be more productive," added Powell.

Instrumental in the center's organization with Powell have been Robert C. Kramer, Cal Poly president; Glenn S. Dumke, CSUC chancellor; and Mitchell P. Kobelinski, SBA administrator.

Joining them at the dedication ceremonies will be Gilbert Montano, SBA regional director, and Stewart L. Rollins, SBA Los Angeles district director.

The center will offer business owners and potential business people an opportunity to analyze their abilities and buiness skills and to develop them fully. The university provides the facilities for the complete analysis of business plans, products and ideas. Businesspersons in the valley are urged to contact the center with their problems, Powell said.

An integral part of the new center concept will be the volunteer expertise of the SBA's Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) and Active Corps of Executives (ACE).

The dedication ceremonies are part of Cal Poly's two-day national business seminar on Thursday and Friday in which top executives from SBA are joining business leaders, government representives and educators to discuss "Education, Productivity and Employment."

The seminar will focus on achieving national productivity and employment goals through government, university and business cooperative efforts.

Montclair meeting scheduled for zone of influence study

A community meeting to gain input for a study of Montclair's zone of influence will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. at Ramona Elementary School, 4225 E. 9th St., Pomona.

The school is located in an unincorporated area of San Bernardino County, within Montclair's sphere of influence. The meeting in the school library will be in general proximity to the residents of the area bounded by State Street, Phillips Boulevard, Benson Avenue and the Los Angeles/San Bernardino county line.

Rosalie Davalos, planning assistant for the City of Montclair, explained the purpose of the gathering is to discuss the first phase of the study of the zone of influence which detailed the land uses designated by the county and the city, the zonings and other particulars related to the present and future development of the area. Residents will state their concerns and desires for development of the area, she added.

Miss Davalos said the study was undertaken in an effort to coordinate the plans of the county and city into an amended general plan for the area that would satisfy city and county officials and the majority of the residents there.

Mike Loehr, director of community development in Montclair, and Doug Payne, associate planner for San Bernardino County, will also attend to make special presentations and answer questions.

Women target in on pregnancy ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decision on disability benefits for pregnancy outraged feminists, but left the way open for legislative changes that would nullify the ruling's impact.

An employer may legally refuse to pay disability or sickleave benefits to pregnant women, the court said Tuesday in a 6 to 3 decision.

There is no sex discrimination "simply because an employer's ... plan is less than all-inclusive," said the majority opinion written by Justice William H. Rehnquist.

The justices overturned the findings of a lower court in saying that General Electric Corp. does not violate the rights of any of its 100,000 women employes by making them take unpaid leaves of absence to have babies.

The decision does not mean that those employers now offering pregnancy disability coverage as part of their over-all compensation package must stop doing so. The court said, however, that existing laws such as the 1964 Civil Rights Act do not compel employers to offer that coverage.

Congress is free to pass legislation making such exclusions illegal, the court said.

One group which had supported the GE women employes, the International Union of Electric Workers, said it planned to seek such legislation.

David Fitzmaurice, the union's president, said his organization would lobby for legislation that specifically tells companies offering disability insurance to employes that pregnancy must be one of the health risks covered.

It was through the electrical workers union that 43 women GE workers, representing themselves and all other GE female employes, first filed grievances against the company. Later, they sued.

Their challenge was enthusiastically backed by women's rights groups, which unanimously panned the court's decision.

Karen DeCrow, president of the National Organization for Women, called the ruling "insulting to every mother in the country."

She said, "The court states that men and women are treated equally under such a plan because if a man is pregnant, he will be treated in the same manner as a woman. Such a definition of sex discrimination is unique."

Susan Ross, an attorney with the American Civil Liberties Union, called the court's action "disastrous" for working women. The ACLU said the case showed the need to impress on President-elect Carter "the importance of seating women on the Supreme Court.

"Part of the problem in litigating this case is that the male Supreme Court justices fail to see what any woman would understand — discrimination against pregnant women is the purest form of sex discrimination."

Linda Dorian, who as an attorney for the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission entered the case in support of the women's claims, said the decision was "the most significant reversal women's rights groups have had in the courts."

In 1972, the EEOC adopted guidelines that told employers exclusion of normal pregnancy from a disability plan was sexually discriminatory. The Supreme Court ruling Tuesday conflicted with those guidelines.

There was a staggering amount of money at stake. Thirty million women of childbearing ages are included in the nation's work force, and according to GE arguments a court decision the other way would have cost American industry $1.3 billion per year.

While labor and women's rights groups teamed on one side, employers lined up on the other. The Chamber of Commerce praised the court's decision for upholding the "right of employers to determine which risks they will insure their employes against."

Ontario to ask Commerce Dept. for Expo 81 environment hearing

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

The Ontario City Council will ask the U.S. Department of Commerce to conduct a public hearing on the draft environmental impact report for Expo 81.

The council unanimously decided to request the public hearing Tuesday night for the proposed class one international exposition to be held from May to November 1981 at Ontario Motor Speedway.

In its decision, the council concurred with an Ontario Planning Commission recommendation that such a hearing be held. The commission recommendation was prompted by a Nov. 9 letter from John N. Porter, assistant city manager of community development.

In his letter, Porter pointed out that the Department of Commerce is the lead agency for the international exposition and has the responsibility of circulating the environmental report to federal, state, local and other agencies; and for gathering the information from the public response and making all that data available to the general public.

The EIR was released on Nov.3 and the commerce department is allowing 45 days for review and comments on the report. Cy Pusey, coordinator of the Expo 81 proposal for the Department of Commerce, had stated at the time the report was released that the department is willing to extend the appeal period an additional 45 days if necessary.

Porter pointed out in his letter that if there is "sufficient expression of concern, the Department of Commerce can determine that a formal public hearing be held."

City Manager Roger Hughbanks felt that other entities besides the Ontario council and commission would be requesting such a hearing. He saw no reason for the federal agency to deny the hearing request because of the widespread effects on local residents and organizations and municipalities with the six-month exposition.

Hughbanks could pinpoint no exact date and time for the hearing, saying that this would be determined by the Department of Commerce.

Child, 6, hit by car; not seriously hurt

A 6-year-old child escaped serious injury Tuesday afternoon when she was struck by a car in Seventh Street east of La Mesa Street in Pomona, police reported.

The victim, Margaret J. Hanson, 6, of Pomona, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where she was released after treatment.

Police reported that the child ran into the street from between two parked cars and into the path of an auto driven by Stella C. Soto, 31, of Pomona, who was eastbound in Seventh.

Tuesday evening, Erwin J. Johnson, 17, of Pomona, was injured slightly when the car in which he was riding was in an accident at Towne Avenue north or McKinley Avenue. Johnson, who was in a car driven by Ida H. Johnson, 39, Pomona, was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police reported Johnson hit the windshield in the collision. The other driver involved was David L. Neilson, 19, a student at Cal Poly.

Andreotti leaves with Ford vow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti left for home today, ending a two-day official visit in which he received a Ford administration promise to do what it can to assure economic stability in Italy.

Andreotti was scheduled to return to Rome after a brief stopover in New York.

Opening of La Scala marred by riot

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Thousands of police cordoned off the heart of Milan and battled militant leftists to prevent disruption of the televised opening of the opera season at Milan's famous La Scala theater.

Rich patrons who paid $84 to $168 per seat left their limousines at home, covered their jewels and took taxis. They crossed through lines of 2,500 riot police who kept marching groups of extremists well away from the opera house Tuesday night.

The leftists were protesting the opera opening as a display of wealth at a time when Italy's poor are feeling the pinch of the acute economic crisis.

"It is like going to war," said one woman as she arrived at the heavily guarded theater.

"It is no longer amusing coming to a La Scala premiere under such conditions," another patron said.

Outside the police cordon, hundreds of demonstrators in small groups broke shop windows, traffic lights and telephone booths, hurled fire bombs at cars and trolleys, overturned automobiles and fought with the police.

The police said 20 leftists and several policemen were injured. About 200 demonstrators were taken into custody, and 40 were charged with disorderly conduct or assaulting policemen.

The four-hour performance of Verdi's "Otello," starring Placido Domingo, Mirella Freni and Piero Capuccilli, was undisturbed except for the presence of the television cameras. It was the first live telecast of a Scala opening.

After the performance, many patrons left the area quickly. Others went on to traditional after-theater supper parties at nearby luxury restaurants.

Man falls to his death

A young La Mirada man, hiking at the 6,400-foot level of San Gabriel Canyon north of Azusa, fell 300 feet to his death Tuesday afternoon.

The victim, Reed Douglas Hemp, 22, was killed outright in the fall and was pronounced dead at the scene, according to Deputy Sheriff Sgt. Ed. Lewis, of the San Dimas Station.

Lewis was among the 10 members of the San Dimas Mountain Rescue Team which retrieved Hemp's body.

Lewis said Hemp was hiking with a companion on a sheer rock face when he slipped. He fell about 30 feet into a rock slide channel and tumbled down the chute to his death, Lewis said.

The accident occurred off Highway 39 about two miles south of its junction with Highway 2 at French Hill.

Windshield shattered

Two young Claremont women escaped injury in Pomona late Tuesday afternoon when someone shattered their car windshield with an object of some kind as they drove past Pomona High School.

The driver, Patricia Ann Bailey, 17, said she and her sister, Meredith, 22, were northbound in the 2200 block of N. Towne Avenue when the windshield was hit, showering them with glass fragments.

The victims said they did not see the person who threw the object.

Medicaid program may be killed over lack of care for poor kids

WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful House subcommittee chairman said today he is prepared to kill a controversial Medicaid program if it doesn't start providing health care for more poor children.

"The program is dead if it's not being utilized," Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., told a news conference. "There's no sense paying for a dead horse."

Moss commented as the Southern Regional Council, headed by member of the Carter transition team, issued a report calling the program in the South "a national disgrace and an inexcusable waste of human resources."

Moss said the report echoed findings of his House Commerce oversight and investigations subcommittee last fall that Medicaid's "early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment Program" had screened only 3 million out of the nation's 13 million poor children and provided needed medical care for even fewer.

He criticized Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews, a Southerner, for sitting on new Medicaid regulations since August 1975.

Mathews, the congressman said, "seemed to have an unusually high tolerance for doing nothing when the law required him to do something ... Secretary Mathews has not been a whiz kid as an administrator."

HEW had no immediate comment.

Patricia Derian, president of the Southern Regional Council, is working on President-elect Carter's transition team in health matters.

The report "demonstrates clearly" that the present program "does not, and probably cannot, provide the level of health care to poverty-level children that was originally envisioned in this legislation," she said in a statement.

The council studied the program's operation in 23 Southern cities and towns.

Spotlight on area crime

Man, 74, dies of beating

A 74-year-old Bassett man, found savagely beaten near a City of Industry garage Tuesday morning, died later that day at Queen of the Valley Hospital in West Covina.

The victim, Lauro Guarao, was found lying between a restaurant, the Vikings Table, and a service station and garage in the 13700 block of Valley Boulevard. He was unconscious and had suffered what deputies described as, "massive head injuries."

Guarao was discovered at 7:30 a.m. and taken to the hospital. He died there at 10:30 a.m.

Homicide investigators this morning said that they have been unable so far to determine why Guarao was beaten to death and had no suspects in jail.

Pair held in burglary

Two men were booked in the West End Jail this morning on burglary charges after they allegedly walked into the Cat & Fiddle Restaurant in Upland and attempted to make off with an antique chair and a love seat valued at more than $1,300 Tuesday night.

Frederick Dale Hostetler, 28, 591 W. 13th St., Upland, and Dean Alan Breitenback, 20, Covina, were arrested by Upland police officers as they were loading the two pieces of antique furniture into the back of their pickup truck.

Police said the two men boldly walked into the busy restaurant lobby at 1276 W. Seventh St., and pulled both the love seat and the chair up from the floor. Police said both pieces of furniture were nailed to the floor.

The pair then made two separate trips taking each piece of furniture back to the truck.

Police said there was at least one witness who noticed the activity but it was the owner who finally told the men to stop and called police.

The furniture was returned to the restaurant after the men were arrested and taken to jail.

Gas station robbed

A gunman robbed the Thrust Gas Co. service station at 124 N. Campus Ave., Ontario, Tuesday night about 6.30, police reported.

The gunman approached a woman attendant and ordered her to hand over the cash from the register.

The attendant told officers the robber ran to a 1965 or 1967 black Chevrolet containing several other men and got inside.

The vehicle sped off south on Campus Avenue.

The gunman was described as a Latin in his 20s five feet nine, 140 to 160 pounds with black, shoulder-length, curly hair and a moustache.

Bradley backer backs out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Multimillionaire Max Palevsky, a frequent financial backer of liberal politicians, will not help Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley's re-election campaign.

Palevsky served as chairman of Bradley's campaign in 1973 and donated $170,000, making him the campaign's largest single donor.

However, in an interview in New York, Palevsky said he had cooled toward the mayor because "not much has happened in terms of issues we talked about (in 1973), such as transportation."

Palevsky was a major contributor to the 1972 presidential campaign of Sen. George McGovern.

In another development, it was announced Monday that David Mixner, a veteran worker for liberal candidates, would be Bradley's campaign coordinator.

Orientations will be held Thursday at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church, 435 Berkeley Ave., Claremont from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Jan. 15 at Covina First United Church at San Bernardino Road and Hollenbeck Avenue from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Courtroom wrestling match with Harrises

OAKLAND (AP) — Kicking and fighting, William and Emily Harris were wrestled to the courtroom floor by deputies after the Symbionese Liberation Army members refused to sit through an arraignment on charges of kidnaping Patricia Hearst.

It took bailiffs several minutes to subdue the pair Tuesday, and Alameda County Superior Court Judge Alan Lindsay called a 10-minute recess following the incident.

The brawl broke out when Lindsay refused to postpone the arraignment and ordered the court clerk to read the indictment. Emily Harris then stood up and started toward the door until bailiffs restrained her. Harris stood to assist his wife and he too was grabbed by bailiffs.

When the clerk resumed reading, Emily again headed for the door. This time a bailiff twisted her arm behind her back and Bill Harris jumped to his feet.

The battle was on as Harris was slammed against the wall, losing his glasses. A table was overturned, and the defendants plus seven or eight deputies and a matron wound up sprawled on the floor before calm was restored.

The Harrises eventually were arraigned on the 13-count indictment charging them with abducting Miss Hearst from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4, 1974. They will not enter pleas until at least Dec. 23. A trial date of May 2 was set, but Lindsay said that probably would be changed.

The entire 85-minute session was marred by acrimony, with the Harrises frequently interrupting the proceedings with harsh words aimed at Judge Lindsay.

"This proceeding is in limbo because the court has not allowed us to choose the best qualified lawyers," said Harris, whose request for an "activist" lawyer was rejected by Lindsay.

"All the pressure you are under to hang the Harrises doesn't surprise me," Emily said at one point. "You are a dying breed playing with people's lives like pawns."

At the end of the session, Asst. Dist. Atty. Alex Selvin presented a motion to unseal the grand jury transcript, including Patricia Hearst's testimony.

"There is a public interest in the grand jury's work and we must consider freedom of the press," he said.

The motion was opposed by Bill Harris' court-appointed attorney, Lincoln Mintz, who said, "We want the air surrounding this case unpolluted and we are seeking more stability in this proceeding."

Now is the time to begin making arrangements to enroll in spring semester evening classes at CITRUS COLLEGE, according to Isaac Romero, dean of extended day programs.

Some 500 classes during the spring semester which begins Jan. 31.

Those planning to take classes in the evening and Saturday program must obtain a registration appointment card before registering. Appointment cards will be available at the college admissions office beginning today. Admissions office hours are Monday through Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Registration for continuing evening students begins Jan. 11, and registration for all evening students begins Jan. 17. Registration for day students now is under way.

For additional information persons may call 599-8339.

Donald Dahlsten, professor of biological control at U.C. Berkeley, will speak at the CLAREMONT COLLEGES joint science department on Wednesday.

The free, public lecture will be held at 4:15 p.m. in Baxter Science Lecture Hall.

Dahlsten's topic will be "Forest Pest Control — An Assessment of Present and Alternative Technologies."

A leader of the monastic Taize Community of northern France is in residence this month at the SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY at Claremont.

Brother Jacques, 36, who joined the society in 1963, will meet with students and faculty and will also make a number of public appearances in Southern California.

The Taize Community was founded by Brother Roger Schutz who came in 1940 from Switzerland and settled in the village of Taize where he established a community of men for a life of worship and dedication to celibacy, obedience, and community of goods.

Brother Jacques is in Claremont under the auspices of the School of Theology's Project Burning Bush, emphasizing a union of personal devotion with global responsibility. Through the program eleven parishes are also involved with the School in the education of future ministers.

Two biologists will discuss the pros and cons of controversial genetic research in a talk at HARVEY MUDD COLLEGE, Thursday.

Their topic is entitled "Recombinant DNA Research: Benefits and Risks." Speakers will be Donald R. Helinski of UC San Diego and Robert L. Sinsheimer, chairman of the biology division at Caltech. The talk begins at 7:30 p.m. at Galileo Hall on the Harvey Mudd campus.

Recombinant research involves the altering of the DNA molecule, which passes on genetic information to offspring. In the research, genes of different organisms are inserted into a common type of bacteria to learn more about how genes control hereditary traits and biological processes.

Opponents fear that recombinant DNA research could produce new and uncontrollable diseases in university laboratories. Supporters say the research is important for the study of such diseases as cancer, which may be affected by flawed genes.

Janis Antonovics, associate professor of botany at Duke University, will be the David Edgar French Lecturer at the CLAREMONT GRADUATE SCHOOL and University Center program on Dec. 13.

"The Evolution of Metal Tolerance in Plants: Natural Selection in Action" will be the topic for the 8 p.m. public lecture in Galileo Hall on the campus of Harvey Mudd College.

Presiding at the annual lecture will be Thomas Mulroy, assistant professor of botany at Pomona College.

CHAFFEY COLLEGE has scheduled a program in tax assistance through the Internal Revenue Service for the winter quarter at the school's Ontario-Montclair Center.

Offered will be two classes in individual tax preparation from 7 to 10 p.m., Tuesdays. One will start on Jan. 11 and the other on Feb. 16. The 15-hour course is worth a unit of college credit.

Students may register for the class today, Thursday and Friday at the Alta Loma campus or from 4 to 8 p.m. on Dec 14 or 15 at Ontario-Montclair Center and Corona High School.

Upon completion of the five-week course, students may enroll in a practical experience offering entitled Special Project which amounts to a community service.

Participants in the course will have an opportunity to help others with their tax returns, such persons as the economically disadvantaged, the elderly, the non-English speaking. For this commitment, a student earns a unit of credit for each 20 hours donated up to three units for 60 hours.

This course will be conducted at various centers in the district. An effort will be made to assign tax assistance volunteers to centers in their own vicinities.

Both courses are keyed to the IRS Volunteer Tax Assistance (VITA) Program. The program instructor and coordinator in this area will be Charles J. Dienethall.

Further information is available at the business education division office at the college. The telephone number is 987-1737, ext. 228 and 292.

SEN. WILLIAM CAMPBELL, R-33rd Dist., has been appointed to the State Senate Rules Committee. He was one of two Republicans selected to fill two committee vacancies. Sen. John Stull, R-Escondido, was the second.

Campbell, former assemblyman, was elected to the Senate in November.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL LANCASTER, R-62nd Dist., was reelected by his colleagues to serve on the Assembly Rules Committee.

The Rules Committee oversees the organization and administration of the Assembly and adopts rules under which it operates. It has seven members.

Other committee assignments are expected to be announced by the Speaker during the December recess, Lancaster said.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL MC VITTIE, D-65th Dist., has been admitted to practice law before the United States Supreme Court upon a motion by former Republican Caucus Chairman Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr.

At Upland council meeting

Expo commission proposal dropped

BY VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

A request that Upland City Council establish an Expo 81 Commission for communication and liaison purposes was speedily dispatched by council members.

Upland Mayor George M. Gibson presented the proposal to the council at the request of Ontario Councilman Beecher Medlin and Alexander Kelly of Santa Fe Springs Savings and Loan Association.

"All we've had from Expo 81 officials so far are mandates, not communications," said Councilmember Ina Petokas. "They have not been cooperative in providing any information and just now released the enviromental impact report.

"I move we go on to the next item on the agenda," Mrs. Petokas said. Her motion was seconded and carried.

In other business, the council rejected a resolution by the city staff which would establish a sliding scale of charges for certain permit and construction inspection services.

City Engineer Fred Blanchard told council members that the city has "fallen behind" in its charges for construction inspections.

Blanchard said that in past years, the loss had been minimal, but during the past nine months escalating costs and a boom in the construction has resulted in a loss to the engineering department of almost $10,000.

The staff's proposal that the cost for services be based upon a sliding scale using a cost index available within the construction industry was rejected by council members.

Councilman Hal Bailin said he felt that a sliding scale was hard to check and to predict by the builder.

Blanchard explained the resolution was designed so that council members would not have to review the rates annually. But, he added, the program can be written either with fixed or sliding rates.

Council members opted for the fixed rates and asked that a new resolution be prepared for the next meeting.

A hearing was set for Jan. 3 on the intention to annex 18.88 acres located at the northwest corner of 18th Street and Mountain Avenue. Single family homes will be constructed on the site by Crowder Development Co.

Departing medical director at Pacific State gains praise

Dr. William M. Clover, who is leaving Pacific State Hospital in Pomona, has been presented a resolution praising his work at the hospital for the mentally retarded.

Dr. Clover, who served as medical director of the hospital for five years, requested a transfer to Atascadero State Hospital in August to serve as medical consultant.

The resolution was adopted by the Parents Coordinating Council and Friends of the hospital in November. It praised Dr. Clover for his dedication to the patients and his diligent work with both the families of the patients and concerned members of the community.

Dr. Clover's resignation from Pacific State was delayed for several months at the request of Don Z. Miller, head of Hospitals Services Section of the California Department of Health.

Now on vacation, Dr. Clover will report for duty at Atascadero shortly after Jan. 1.

ORANGE SHOW HOPEFUL — Miss La Verne, Cherlyn Wanamaker, 18, operates a citrus canning machine which will be part of the new Citrus Museum. She is among 50 girls to compete for the title of California Citrus Queen on opening night of the National Orange Show in San Bernardino on March 17. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wanamaker and a freshman at Cal Poly Pomona. She is sponsored by the La Verne Chamber of Commerce.

Collection drive, bake sale slated

The Bonita High School Drill Team Boosters Club is sponsoring a newspaper and aluminum can collection drive and a bake sale bazaar on Saturday.

The bake sale and bazaar will be held at the Foothill Shopping Center in La Verne, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Persons interested in donating newspapers and aluminum cans may bring them to Bonita High School on Saturday between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 3 p.m., or call 593-5869 prior to the event for pickup information.

All proceeds will be used to help finance a Bonita High School Drill Team trip to the Miss Drill Team U.S.A. Pageant to be held in February at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Holiday dangers listed

Pomona Police Chief R. A. Slaght wished residents a joyous holiday season, but warned of the dangers the season presents.

Thefts, traffic accidents and robberies are unfortunately a part of the season, he said.

To make it more difficult for law-breakers, the chief advised Pomona residents not to leave packages in plain view inside their cars, but to lock them inside the trunk of their cars. And park your car in a well-lighted area, he added.

Shoppers should report all suspiciously acting persons to store personnel or the police department and avoid carrying large sums of money, he advised.

Don't park in empty sections of parking lots, but stay where other persons are moving about. And keep a watchful eye on your neighbor's house and belongings, and ask your neighbor to watch yours, he said.

To assist with holiday safety, the Pomona Police Department will assign a special task force to major streets and shopping centers, said Slaght.

Officers assigned to those units will use surveillance, unmarked vehicles and plainclothes foot patrols in an effort to deter criminals. That increased police activity will be supplimented by extra helicopter patrols of shopping centers within the city, the chief said.

HONORED FOR SERVICE — United Way campaign workers Emmett Jones, John Barsodi, Philip Milich, Tom Carlton and Dennis Phelps, from left, receive medallions from Duane C. Slocum, right, chairman of the commerce and industry division of East Zone, Los Angeles County United Way, for approaching the division's goal and a projected increase of 7.1 per cent over last year's total.

United Way East Zone campaign workers honored

The East Zone of the United Way of Los Angeles County campaign has an excellent potential for reaching its goal, according to John Felton, chairman.

The zone is now at 74 per cent of its goal of $303,790, with final figures expected by the end of the month, Felton said.

The commerce and industry division, headed by Duane C. Slocum, has raised $129,884, or 78.5 per cent of its goal. Of this,more than $10,000 is new money. Five campaign workers were honored with medallions recently for their work in this division. Honored were Emmett Jones, Philip Milich, John Barsodi, Dennis Phelps and Tom Carlton.

Other East Zone divisions and their totals are: public employes, 80 per cent of goal with $7,557; public schools, 62 per cent, $30.031; special gifts, 41 per cent, $3,032; professions, 48 per cent, $10,139; retirement homes, 90 per cent, $25,793; agencies, 98 per cent, $8,320; and mail and telehone, 73 per cent, $8,747.

At present, East Zone is the top-ranking zone in Region II of the county.

Felton said that twice the amount of money raised in the zone is used to provide health care and other services for agencies in the valley.

The combined United Way — Red Cross campaign raises funds for 17 local service agencies.

Braswell proposes residency requirements

For all Pomona District administrators, teachers

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

The Pomona school board Tuesday evening heard trustee C. Allen Braswell propose establishing residency requirements for all school district administrators and teachers.

The proposal outlined by Braswell in a prepared statement would affect all administrators "having administrative or policy making decision, authority, and/or responsibility." Braswell also proposed that each new teacher hired subsequent to the enactment of the policy be required to "live within the city of Pomona or the community in which they serve."

The proposal, said Braswell, would become effective immediately upon approval by the board and mandatory for all persons hired subsequently. Currently appointed administrative personnel would be expected to comply within two years. Those failing to comply in a timely manner would be reassigned to the classroom for the following year. Affected persons within five years of retirement would not be required to comply.

Braswell said that in his estimation 75 per cent of 100 employes he identified as having policy making positions live outside the city of Pomona.

Braswell said, "For several years the trend has been to utilize Pomona for the individual financial and career development purposes, then at night to retreat to the safety of the castle in adjoining communities, smug in the assurance that behind the moat of suburban comforts, we are safe from the community which we have economically prostituted and we are left unscathed by the social havoc which we have imposed upon the hapless urban dweller."

Braswell said he believed there was judicial precedent for the proposal and he requested the district's legal counsel examine the proposal and report back on it at the next meeting.

Braswell said his proposal would benefit the district socially through greater understanding of the district's problems and increased leadership within the district; educationally because policies and practices would have an immediate impact upon the homes of those persons making and implementing those policies; and economically because of a greater demand for quality housing in the district and because salaries paid administrators would remain within the community.

Trustee Eugene Whitlock voiced vigorous support for Braswell's proposal saying he was ready to vote for it at the next meeting.

Whitlock's enthusiasm was slowed by trustees Don Donnelly and Ken Pine, however, as both suggested taking a slower look at the proposal. Donnelly said he didn't feel two weeks was sufficient time for legal counsel to thoroughly investigate the proposal. Pine more strongly voiced disagreement with the plan saying "We should put the horse before the cart."

Pine said "We should have a community where professionals want to live rather than force professionals to live here."

The board scheduled the proposal as an informational item on its Dec. 21 agenda.

Chino police chief claims misconduct allegations 'false'

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Allegations of police misconduct at the recent DES Hall riot in Chino were branded as "false" Tuesday night by Police Chief Jerry Doyle.

Doyle presented a lengthy report to the City Council in response to charges leveled by the Chino Community Action Council on Nov. 2.

The CAC had asked for an investigation into complaints against certain officers following the Sept. 25 riot. The citizens' group had requested if charges of brutality and harassment proved true, that those officers involved be dismissed from the force.

The City Council listened to Doyle's report Tuesday, but took no formal action regarding the allegations. Mayor Bob McLeod directed that a copy of Doyle's report be made available to CAC members.

Several CAC members immediately informed the council, however, that they were not happy with the chief's report. One citizen indicated he was "doublecrossed" and another threatened to file a class action suit against the city.

Doyle, meanwhile, stated that police have a right and duty to control riots. The incident in question was "very serious," he noted, and more injuries might have occurred if officers had not acted.

He said obscenities were yelled at officers, fights broke out, an officer was kicked and others were attacked.

Except for one incident, all complaints of misconduct by officers were investigated by Chino police and "found to be the result of false information," said Doyle.

There is no doubt some people were struck with nightsticks, and a headlight was broken out of a car by an officer, Doyle admitted. But "there can be no doubt as to the serious nature of the situation."

Doyle told councilmen that "most complaints were the result of rumor and emotion." There was one verified incident in which an officer "acted improperly" but it was minor and will be dealt with administratively, he noted.

Doyle indicated there was a complete "lack of communication" between the police and those who sponsored the dance at the DES Hall which ended in a riot.

He proposed that in the future, a police community relations group be formed among members of various groups in the city. Goals would be to improve communications with police. Also, a police community relations officer may be hired, said Doyle.

Nick Medina, CAC spokesman, told the council he felt "double crossed. I thought a separate group was going to investigate this, not the council or the staff. You have to take a look at the community — we're treated as second class citizens."

Medina added that he thought the council was going to contact people involved in the riot.

Later, he said the Mexican-American community "got a kick in the rear tonight."

Other CAC members expressed displeasure with Doyle's report. Mrs. Frances Martinez, who was involved in a disturbance at 13th and D streets recently, noted the CAC had asked for that incident to also be investigated.

"Doyle's report was biased. My family was assaulted at 13th and D. Now, we have no recourse other than bringing a class action suit against the city."

Councilman Pete Garcia said he felt Doyle had "shown good faith" and praised his idea for a new police community relations group. I wish the people had responded more positively towards it."

San Dimas council OKs added land to redevelop

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

An amendment adding 86.5 acres of land to an original 108 acres scheduled for redevelopment in the downtown area of San Dimas was adopted by the City Council Tuesday night.

The amendment brings the total number of residents that could be affected by redevelopment to 180 persons.

During a public hearing session, only two residents spoke against the proposed amendment. None spoke in favor.

George Dunning, a property owner in the expanded area, asked if the amendment would affect building projects he plans for that area. Mike Brakestone, a redevelopment attorney, assured him it wouldn't.

Joe Shepherd, a local resident and civic leader, objected to the plan because of area residents who might possibly be dispossessed from their homes.

"I've been against moving people from their homes since the beginning and I'm still against it," he declared.

In the environmental impact report also approved for acceptance by the council, it was reported that a large number of the residents in the redevelopment area are poor or low-income persons and that a sizable percentage are of Latin ancestry.

"I'm concerned with what's going to happen to the people living in those houses," said Shepherd. "If they're moved out, where are they going to find suitable housing?" he asked.

The redevelopment ordinances make provisions for persons dispossessed from their property or homes. If some members are too poor to find suitable housing, the redevelopment agency is charged with the responsibility of seeing to it that housing is found.

ACT wins right to represent teachers in labor negotiations

In a close election, Associated Chino Teachers (ACT) Tuesday won the right to represent all district teachers in labor negotiations with the school board.

The ACT defeated Chino Federation of Teachers (CFT), 243 votes to 230. Four persbns voted for "no representative" as was allowed under the state's new collective bargaining law.

ACT, the oldest teacher group in Chino which claimed to have more members, is affiliated with California Teachers Association and the National Education Association. CFT is associated with California Federation of Teachers and the AFL-CIO.

"This victory should make it clear that Chino teachers have rejected the CFT," said Chuck Sanchez, president of ACT in a prepared statement. The vote designates ACT to bargain for salary, fringe benefits and curriculum programs for the 506 Chino teachers."

Chino teachers have been working without a contract and have not had a salary increase since July, 1975, noted Sanchez.

Linda A. Olson, former president of CFT, said Tuesday that she was disappointed in the vote. "I'm not looking forward to the contract we're going to negotiate. The ACT wants to accept any offer from management."

Skateboarders seeking park

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

A group of young Pomona residents petitioned the Pomona City Council this week seeking a special park for their favorite pastime — skateboarding.

Spokesman for the group, John Nist, 12, of 298 San Felipe St., told the council "hundreds" of kids needed such a facility and presented the council with a long scroll of names gathered in support of the idea.

"The corner of Orange Grove and La Verne would be a great spot," he said.

The youngster told the council that skateboarding on sidewalks presented dangers to the riders and pedestrians, that police warn kids about going into the street, and that local areas, such as Bonelli Park, are off limits to skateboarders.

The type of facility youngsters want would be a smooth concrete surface in a bowl-like depression in the ground.

Nist didn't have an answer but anticipated the question of cost, telling the council "I'm not a contractor so I don't know how much it would cost."

The council referred the request to the city's Parks and Recreation Commission for its consideration.

PHIL SHEPHERD

County Fair general manager elected to IAFE Hall of Fame

Phil D. Shepherd, general manager of the Los Angeles County Fair since 1960, has been elected to the Hall of Fame of the International Association of Fair and Expositions.

The award given at the annual IAFE convention at Las Vegas to Shepherd represents the first time for a California fair manager to receive the high honor since the award was conceived in 1957.

Shepherd was cited for his outstanding leadership and valuable contributions in the development of fairs.

He is an immediate past president of IAFE and also is a director of the organization.

Shepherd is a past president of the Pomona Rotary Club and is active in civic affairs.

He has been a director of the Western Fairs Association, and served as its president in 1960. He received the WFA Hall of Fame award in 1973. He presently is serving on the WFA racing committee, and was president of the Federation of California Racing Associations from 1964-1968.

Shepherd joined the local fair staff in 1952 as assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

In 1958 he was elected secretary, and was elected general manager in 1960 when he succeeded the late C. B. "Jack" Afflerbaugh.

Shepherd was named to the fair association board of directors in May 1966 and filled the vacancy left by the death of his father, B. Chaffey Shepherd.

Shepherd lives in Claremont with his wife Pauline.

Central employes reject district offer

By DAVID READER
PB Correspondent

The certificated and classified employes of the Central School District in Cucamonga have rejected the latest contract proposal offered by the district, Supt. Don Sperry reported Tuesday to the board of trustees.

Since salary negotiations have reached what Sperry termed an "impasse," the two sides will now turn the matter over to a fact-finding committee whose members will be selected by both parties.

Patton Lewis, board president, said the district's contract offer called for a six per cent increase in wages and fringe benefits. He added that he was "very disappointed" on learning the employees rejected the offer.

During the past school year, district teachers have worked without a formal contract.

Although the district has twice failed to get the necessary two-thirds voter approval during the recent bond elections, the board gave authorization for a third school bond election on March 8.

They also approved the allocation of $10,000 in the current budget to cover costs on the preliminary planning stages towards building a new elementary school should the voters approve the bond passage of $10 million.

In a related matter, Sperry said the district will implement a plan to provide additional classroom space at the schools in the district.

Pomona councilman announces his candidacy for city mayor

Pomona City Councilman Charles Bader announced today he will run for mayor of the city in the March 8 municipal election.

A member of the council for six years, Bader, 36, will challenge incumbent Ray Lepire, who is expected to seek a third two-year term.

As he has done as a councilman, Bader said he will continue to stress the need for industrial growth for the community and a cutback in the city's dependence on federal funding to provide city services.

"Pomona can have a bright future with a capable mayor and council willing to address themselves meaningfully to the problems confronting our city," he said.

Bader, owner of Condominium Management Services, said the next mayor must improve the communications between city government, residents and city employes.

"Pomona's efforts to improve its community relations must continue," said Bader.

A graduate of UCLA, where he majored in business administration, Bader is also a Navy veteran. He has been active in youth sports organizations and is a member of the First Lutheran Church in Pomona.

He and his wife, Rosanne, and two sons, Ronald, 11, and Stephen, 8, reside at 1683 N. Gibbs St.

Official filing period for the municipal election begins Thursday at 8:15 a.m. and continues through Dec. 30 at 12 p.m. In addition to the race for mayor, Councilmanic seats in the city's 2nd and 3rd Districts, held by Councilmen Adrian Wright and Benjamin Ochoa, respectively, will be up for election.

Control is name of game

Neither economy nor efficiency will be the major objective in President-elect Carter's upcoming moves to reform the federal bureaucracy.

Control is the name of the game.

At least three recent presidents — Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon — and a series of Cabinet officials have been angered or infuriated by their inability to have their orders obeyed by the rulers of small kingdoms scattered throughout the departments and agencies which run Washington and determine much of what goes on in the nation.

That is, a series of presidents and their aides have found that orders given are delayed interminably in execution or so modified as to be ineffective, or to produce a result diametrically opposite that intended.

Most of these powerful bureaucrats are extremely able. Though some have risen to high position on seniority alone, the majority have arrived there through expertise. They know the ins and outs of their domains so thoroughly that nothing moves up to senior officials or down to the action men without their approval, or indeed, without their imprint.

Many of these men and women have come to the conclusion that they, more than any president, cabinet official or other political appointee, know what should be done for the good of the country. Each has his own political philosophy, which may be radically different from that of an incumbent president.

In some cases, these key bureaucrats have built close alliances with influential senators or representatives or members of their staffs. They are thus able in many cases to assure that the laws passed will meet their needs and conform to their beliefs. Their budgets will pass readily with few changes.

They may also profit personally. Those who cooperate closely with Congress sometimes find that promotions come their way despite opposition from superiors in the department in which they work. Admiral Rickover is a well-publicized case in point.

This is not to say that these men and women are basically self-serving. Some are, of course. More are not. They simply believe that, because of their experience, they are right.

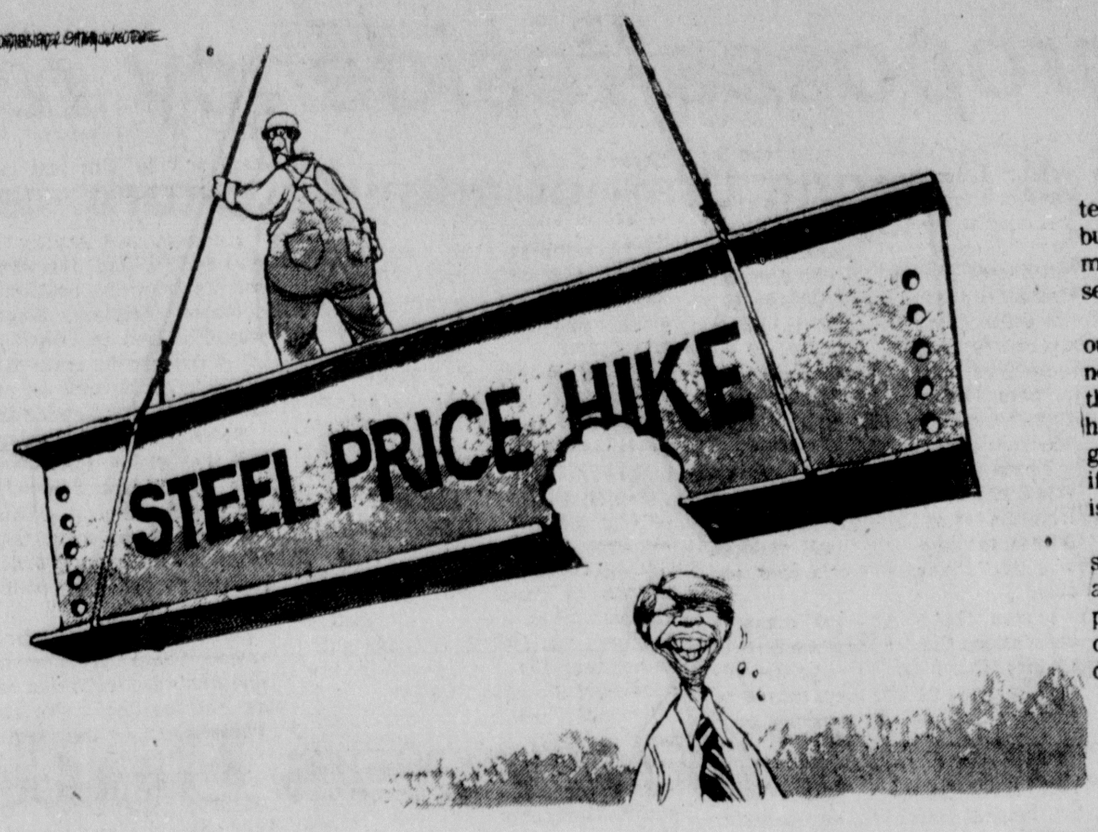
Congressmen come to depend on these strategically placed kingpins. For one thing, the bureaucrats know what they are doing and congressmen usually do not. The insert of a paragraph here or there in proposed legislation can save a senator or representative headaches later.

Then too, there is frequently a personal payoff for cooperative congressmen. If a legislator wins the approval of a powerful bureaucrat, he can count on favors. For constituents, there will be job openings, special consideration in applying a federal law or access to hard-to-get information. The congressman and his staff can also profit by the ready opening of doors that otherwise would be closed, or in being spared checks and inspections that could otherwise be embarrassing.

Sen. Barry Goldwater once suggested that key bureaucrats be shifted from one department to another from time to time in order to break the power that each wields in his kingdom.

Under present law, about the only effective method for bringing about such transfers — thereby breaking cliques — is by reorganizations, even when such result in new departments and organizational structures no more efficient than the old

Despite the favorable statements which followed Mr. Carter's recent visit with Congressmen, the new president is almost certain to find that when things get down to the nitty gritty his plans for reorganization will be so modified he will have far less power over the federal establishment than he desires.



Joyce Hifler

Think on these things

It's a shame when one person domineers another — but it is a bigger shame when someone allows himself to be browbeaten.

There are many reasons why a tyrant has control — whether soft-spoken or loud and threatening. Fear, lack of regard or self-esteem, and the need to have someone call the plays — regardless of how rough they are — gives many a dictator a free hand to bully.

Every person has a creativity within himself that needs to be expressed. It is not necessarily something that calls a great deal of attention — but it is like sunlight and water and a breath of fresh air — vital to well being. Sometimes those things are given up too easily when it is every person's right to have them. The standing up under pressure can be very slow — but oh, how rewarding, when that first deep breath of fresh air fills the lungs without being told when and how.

Supt. Lapp's accomplishments

Dear Editor:

With reference to the recent critical letter about Chino school superintendent Royce Lapp, it can best be answered by pointing out some of his accomplishments during the 7½ years he has served the Chino district.

When he first arrived he took steps to offset a very explosive situation involving the Mexican-American community, and greatly increased the opportunities and programs in the school system for minority students and employees.

He brought to the Chino district many innovative educational programs which have been successful with a great number of students.

He has strengthened the budgeting process and accountability within the system, so that the Chino district gets more for its money than surrounding districts, at a lower cost to the taxpayers.

He has instituted a building program which has provided space for a 25 per cent increase in students, without having to resort to double sessions, and has laid out a program for the future, which, if followed, will provide adequate space continually for our students.

He introduced year round school which has won acceptance from a majority of the parents and students, has reduced the cost to the taxpayer, and has alleviated overcrowding.

He has introduced a system of media centers to provide extra resource material in the elementary schools.

He developed an elementary counseling program that is unsurpassed in the area.

He has fully utilized all available state and federal support for programs which provide for individual students needing special help. This includes the addition of many special reading teachers at all level.

He has strengthened the teacher hiring program to ensure the district the best teachers available according to the needs of the individual schools.

He has increased the efficiency and economy of school maintenance.

He has put into effect an annual survey of parents to get their feelings and opinions of the school district's job of educating their children, something that was not available to parents before.

He introduced a data process system that has helped streamline management in face of growth, and which has improved attendance, and thus income received from the state.

Despite all these improvements it has been possible to cut the tax rate for operations and keep centralized administration to a minimum in line with growth.

He has strengthened school management by decentralizing it into the individual schools, where staff and parents have a greater say in the educational program and the expenditures.

He has put into effect a major reform of standards and curriculum at the junior high and high school level which will make it easier for students to meet new state requirements for graduation. This has included an increase in remedial courses and better counseling service.

There are other improvements too numerous to list here, including higher standards of achievement for management and staff. These accomplishments have only been disruptive and burdensome to those who have failed to see the changing needs of the Chino student and community.

Alaskan waters threaten ships

WASHINGTON — Billions of dollars are being spent to extract oil from Alaska's frozen tundra. Yet, no one has thoroughly considered how to ship the oil out of Alaska.

A secret study commissioned by Alaskan state authorities reveals that the 165,000-ton oil tankers may not be able to navigate safely through the state's main seaport of Valdez. The treacherous wind and weather conditions around Valdez may make it impossible.

The confidential study was conducted at a ship model basin in the Netherlands. It simulated weather and geographical conditions around Port Valdez to determine whether the tankers could navigate through the Valdez Narrows which are usually negotiated by much smaller vessels.

Results of the study were startling. The Alaskan State Pipeline Coordinator's office concluded that transporting oil through Valdez would be a tricky and dangerous operation at best.

First, the tankers must sail through the Valdez Narrows. Those experienced with the tight passage claim that winds often whip through at speeds of up to 200 miles per hour.

Going through the Narrows in a mammoth tanker, say our sources, would be like threading a massive needle through a moving hole. To make matters worse, there's a dangerous rock barrier right in the middle of the Narrows.

No ship as large as the giant oil tankers has ever attempted to navigate this perilous passageway. Despite the dangers, there's not even a weather facility at the Valdez Narrows to guide the ships.

The study further noted that, by law, all of this difficult navigation must be done exclusively by U.S. seamen. But, say our sources, there are no U.S. navigators sufficiently experienced to bring the supertankers through the Narrows.

To demonstrate the dangers, Alaskan authorities commissioned the simulated laboratory test runs in full-size mock ships at the Dutch facility. The test ships had many "accidents" and "near disasters."

Going through the "Narrows," several ships "crashed" into the rock barrier. Some of the ships couldn't even make it through with simulated tugboats leading the way.

The Coast Guard has jurisdiction over such navigational dangers. But Coast Guard officials refused to initiate their own study. When Coast Guard experts were briefed by Alaskan officials on the shocking results of the secret study, they dismissed the findings as "garbage."

Coast Guard brass complained bitterly that Alaskan state officials had infringed on their territory. Our sources told us the Coast Guard should have conducted its own study on Port Valdez four years ago. Footnote: A Coast Guard spokesman told our reporter Andy Penn that it is waiting for a "final analysis" to use in developing its own safety system. Since our inquiries, however, Coast Guard officials agreed to meet with Alaskan state authorities.

ANGRY ALEXANDER: We recently reported that Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander, over the strong protests of his subordinates, eliminated a key question from the income tax forms. The question had been used to trap tax cheaters who deposit their hidden profits in foreign bank accounts.

We invited Alexander to comment. Rather than give us an explanation, he waited until the column appeared. Then he used his intelligence division to get the list of the newspapers that published the column. He sent a letter to our editors claiming he had unanimous approval for removing the question.

The truth is that many law enforcement officials, at every level of the federal government, didn't want the question removed. In fact, the Justice Department sent a confidential letter to the IRS insisting that the question be left on the tax form.

Rep. Charles Vanik, D.-Ohio, has now introduced legislation to get the foreign bank account question reinstated. Sixty congressmen have signed a private letter to Treasury Secretary William Simon asking him to restore the crucial question.

GOPers get the message

By TERRY WADE
PB Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Republican party is on the ropes, about to go down for the third time and up the proverbial creek in dire need of a paddle.

There have been all types of commentary and discussion on what they must do to survive. Twelve, soon to be 11, Republican governors met here recently to ponder their party's fate, but no one has come up with a more concrete resolution than endorsing the GOP convention platform.

Perhaps the party big-wigs should listen to my old friend Joe (a fictitious person).

Joe has no credentials other than being a middle class white collar worker who has been a Republican since the first day he could register.

Joe is seriously considering registering as an independent. He is a little slow or he would have already made the switch like millions of other former Republicans.

"I've always been a Republican because I don't believe throwing money at a problem will solve it," Joe will tell you.

Joe also says, "I believe like Thomas Jefferson that the least government is the best government and I believe in local government."

Ol' Joe can list item by item what a Republican is all about — he would seem to be dyed-in-the-wool GOP.

Joe confirms what the GOP leadership has been saying — "Most Americans really are conservative."

Then why is Joe leaving the party?

"I'm tired of being looked at as backward and anti-people," Joe will tell you immediately. "I'm not rich, nor do I have any stock in big business.

"I'm no dummy and I do believe that people with handicaps and who are underpriviledged need our help."

Joe will leave the party because he no longer believes in the leadership, nor in the image that has developed, rightly or wrongly, over the years.

"If the Republican Party really was for all the things they claim to support," Joe says, "I would still be a strong Republican."

Joe has begun to believe that the party is pro-big business without regard to indiscretions and anti-government without recognizing the need for some government.

"I'm pro business because profit making stimulates the economy and causes more jobs and a better standard of living," Joe tells you. "I'm anti-big government, but I think we need government to keep the system straight."

That may be oversimplified.

"I'm tired of being looked at as backward and anti-people," Joe said. That's the message party leaders should heed.

Just in jest

It's too bad that a lot of new brides failed to patent the idea before scientific research took over, but that's the way of the world. Those who really make the greatest contribution to human welfare seldom cash in on their efforts.

And to prove that statement, I have only to point out that scientific researchers have recently announced they have discovered a way for folks to eat their cake and stay thin, too. — No matter that one has a chronic weight problem and that he is a gutless wonder when it comes to exercising, — even if giving up eating is asking the impossible — there is still hope.

The latest fabulous news from the wonderland of scientific research is that people can now eat, drink and merrily thumb their noses at the age-old fear of putting on excess weight. The magic scientific discovery that makes all this possible is called "indigestible food."

Watson's war with Bourbons

THOMPSON, Ga. — (NEA) — Jimmy Carter occasionally and accurately describes himself as a populist, an identification which causes unrest among those in the union devoted to the preservation of entrenched privilege. No notion is as disturbing to the elite as that which suggests a march to power by the have-littles.

So worrisome is the prospect, actually, that the system can when threatened become not only concerned but viciously defensive. And perhaps the best case in point occurred in Carter's Georgia years ago, beginning and ending here in Thompson. This is the birthplace and burial ground of the "agrarian rebel," Thomas E. Watson.

Watson was a child of the Civil War, the son of a slaveholder who, as did so many then, suffered not only the defeat of battle but of soul and substance. The invasion, conquest and occupation of the South devastated a mostly rich culture, leaving its adherents with what author Hodding Carter has described as "an angry scar" of acrimony.

The war destroyed both the values and the works of most Southerners. Men who had owned slaves suddenly became less fed and less clothed than once were their chattel. Families were shattered. Faith crumbled. Where for centuries the South had navigated itself, and in large part well, now others shoved in to take command.

Most terrible of all for the regional pride and well being was the dismembering and restructuring of commerce, principally the agrarian apparatus. Southern opportunists teamed with Northern industrialists to form a new Bourbon class at the expense of the common man. Farmers got poorer. Interest rates soared. The auction hammer was deafening.

And so the advent of Tom Watson, sometimes called a demagogue. He adopted the plight of his people totally. With them, in Hodding Carter's words, "He hated high tariff Republicans and the mill owners who bought his cotton so cheap and sold their bolts of cloth so dear." Watson thus organized a counterforce of commoners against the monopolies.

Interestingly, Watson's early movement included black commoners as well as white. He was among the first Southerners of stature to argue that the oppressed masses consisted of two races and neither of them would prosper by hating the other. Thus, supported by a coalition, he was elected to Congress in 1890, a "man of all the people," and seemed on his way to effecting broad change in his region.

But it wasn't to be. Though he was a competent congressman — for example he worked with Jimmy Carter's grandfather, a postmaster, to legislate the first Rural Free Delivery — he was too much of a threat to the established order. Worried for their profits and power, the Bourbons conspired shamelessly to squelch this populist meddler.

First they gerrymandered Watson's congressional district so as to prevent his reelection in 1892. Then, still perceiving him as a menace, they stole the 1894 election in one of the most shameful frauds in U.S. history; there were 11,240 registered district voters that year, but Watson's opponent received a majority of 13,780 ballots.

Tom Watson tried to recover, of course. He was later to run as a Populist party candidate for vice president, then as a presidential nominee, and eventually he was returned to Washington as a senator from Georgia. But the Bourbons had broken his character if not his spirit. In the last half of his life he approached social lunacy.

Distraught and bitter, Watson became a virulent racist, once describing Booker T. Washington as a "gorilla." His writings became so slanderous that they were banned from the mails during World War I. Increasingly isolated from reality and objectivity, he died in 1922 and was mourned primarily by hapless rednecks and the Ku Klux Klan.

His home, Hickory Hill, is preserved here in Thompson. Old "pops" (populists) still remember him fondly. Jimmy Carter has spoken of his good work. And in the backwoods, they say, some still sing "The Thomas E. Watson Song," a somber ballad of a man who "fought and struggled" but whose faith in people was not a successful religion.

Ann Landers

An accident or a suicide?

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman whose mother committed suicide. I was appalled that her psychiatrist had told her, "Suicide is punishment for the survivors. The person who does this dastardly deed plans it that way. It is the ultimate payback for real or imagined abuse." No wonder the woman cries a lot. That psychiatrist of hers NEEDS a psychiatrist. If there's anything the poor girl doesn't need it's more guilt.

Twice in the last three months I was lucky enough to be pulled back from the brink. I have a husband who adores me and two small children who need their mother's love and care.

I was the victim of massive depressions that left me in a state of anxiety. Death seemed like the only release when the darkness moved in. I never once planned a suicide but I attempted it four times.

I still have bad days but I have good ones, too. Writing this letter has helped make this day a better one. I hope it does the same for the woman who is grieving over her mother's suicide — and secretly holding herself responsible. — Horse's Mouth

Dear Friend: Thank you for a valuable and illuminating letter Here's another:

Dear Ann Landers: I am not a therapist, but I know something about suicidal people because I am one myself.

It may be true (as that woman's doctor said) that some people kill themselves to punish the survivors, but it is unfair to say this is the way it is for all.

I have attempted suicide several times — once as a teenager. My life has been a series of failures — including unsuccessful and prolonged periods of psychiatric treatment. The reason I have not killed myself is because I don't want to lay any guilt on my daughter. My concern for her outweighs the pain of living.

I wonder how many "accidents" were carefully planned suicides by people who had no desire to live but wanted to spare their loved ones the guilt. Thousands, I'll bet. — A Mother

Dear Mother: Thank you for telling your story. Here's another:

Dear Ann: My husband was a recent suicide. I'm just getting over the shock but I'll never get over the loss.

He was not trying to punish anyone. He had overwhelming, insoluble financial problems. He felt defeated, helpless, disgraced and was too tired to keep fighting. He tried so hard to make it — but he couldn't. So he took an overdose of sleeping pills and ended the misery.

No psychiatrist is going to make ME feel guilty. I was a wonderful wife. My husband loved me very much. But being a success in business meant more to him than anything in the world and there was nothing I could do about it. — At Peace

Dear Friend — and all others who wrote: Thank you for presenting irrefutable evidence that all suicides are not, as the psychiatrist said, "punishment for the survivors."

CONFIDENTIAL to How Will This Learning Experience Change Me?: Permanently. Once a mind has been stretched by new ideas it never goes back to its original dimensions. Congratulations. That "not-so-handsome guy" sounds like a winner.

No horse could replace Jingle

DEAR DR. MILLER: My mare Jingle is going on five. She's an easy rider and a sweet, gentle animal. I really love her. My dad's offering to buy me a thousand-dollar purebred if I'll give her up. He can't understand why a valuable pedigreed horse doesn't appeal to me when "all I have is that nag." How can I tell him that Jingle and I understand each other, we love each other, and that another horse at any price couldn't make me as happy? — F.E.

DEAR F.E.: You just did.

DEAR DR. MILLER: The doctor I went to last year gave Molly her distemper and all that other stuff vaccination in her heinie, in the muscle of her leg. I watched the doctor this year give her supposedly the same shots under the skin of her neck. Why don't dog doctors do it all the same way, or am I just being a nitpicker? — S.W.

DEAR S.W.: The subcutaneous (just under the skin) site of injection — most frequently at the top of the shoulder — is often chosen as a matter of convenience, ease of administration, or occasionally because the dog resents it less when given here. The intramuscular (deep in the muscle) injection sites, which are most commonly in the heavy hindquarter muscles, are preferable for some types of vaccinations. No, you're not nitpicking in this case since the intramuscular route is preferred with modified live virus vaccines in dogs. The degree of protection resulting from the vaccines is much higher when the intramuscular route is used.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I read a recipe for a seed and suet ball for birds that sounds pretty good. I wonder, though, when you hang those up for the birds, is there any danger they might eat too much of such rich food and get sick from it? — J.K.

DEAR J.K.: Seed and suet balls wouldn't actually be as good for the birds as if the seed and suet were offered separately. The danger isn't that the birds would gorge themselves and suffer indigestion as the result of rich food. It's just that the mixture is messier to make and messier to eat. If the bird prefers the seed to the suet or vice-versa, or even if he wants the combination, it would be easier to eat them separately.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Is there anything wrong with tearing up newspapers in shreds and using it in a cat box? The cheaper cat litter is so dusty, and the good stuff is so expensive. — C.P.

DEAR C.P.: Once a cat's trained to accept shredded paper for this purpose — it works. Good ventilation is advisable; frequent changing is a necessity.

Trying time to tell a tale

Every now and then at a friendly socia gathering, warmed by jolly companionship and a few tankards of nut-brown ale, one feels impelled to relate an interesting experience or anecdote. It is here that the bachelor is under a handicap — he has to tell the story all by himself. The married man gets help from his wife.

"Let me tell you a good one," you say, and remembering, give a chuckle. Instantly your wife's radar hums into action; her eyebrows draw together in a warning frown. She may have been seated across a noisy room engrossed in conversation about babies or diets, but she hears you getting ready to make a fool of yourself and possibly her. That "good one" to her means the most salacious of jokes, and your reminiscent chuckle does nothing to allay her suspicions.

"Honey," she says, in a soft, threatening voice, "not the one about Eva Gabor and the three sailors."

"No, no," you protest. "This is —"

"Not the one about the man who saved the artist's model and — "

"No, dear, I was just going to tell them about the time — "

"No Jimmy Carter jokes."

Her litany about the stories you cannot tell runs on. By now your guests are drooling with anticipation. Any story you tell after that buildup is bound to fall flat.

"No, this happened on a camping trip," you say. "We were in the High Sierra one day —"

"King's Canyon, dear."

"Yeah, King's Canyon. It was late and it started to rain, so we — "

"Snow, honey. Don't you remember the children were — "

"Yeah, that's right, snow. We couldn't roll up the window on the Dodge — "

"It was the old Chevy, sweetheart. And you forgot to say that Margo had been sick, so she — "

"Well, yes. Our little girl was just getting over the mumps — "

"Chicken pox."

There is a long pause. Then you say, "You tell it, dear."

"Oh no-no-no! I wouldn't DREAM of telling your story. Besides, you tell it so well. Go on, honey. Tell them about the gasoline lantern."

And she sits back purring, eyes glinting through half-closed lids, having neatly ruined your story, you, and possibly her marriage.

I don't know where wives get this compulsion to help out on your pitiful attempts to contribute something to the fun. High Sierra, King's Canyon —what difference does it make? But each correction brings the story to a grinding halt.

On they go, the dears, correcting, changing, adding superfluous details, rocketing off on tangents, chiding, teasing, remonstrating — the Anxious Parent with the (badly) Performing Child. They shake their heads, sigh loudly, smile indulgently.

The traditional marriage contract, if there is one anymore, should be revised to make the bride promise to "love, honor, obey and let him tell his stories."

The widow who waits too long

The widow who remarries within a few years after the death of her first husband has a better chance of enjoying a successful second marriage than a widow who waits a long long time to go to the alter agian. Or so our Love and War man's case history file indicates. That lady who waits overlong to try again, it's believed, builds up in that time a distorted ideal of the first husband. And so it can become next to impossible for the would-be second husband to compete with that ideal.

That U.S. president who personally signed anything least frequently is said to have been John F. Kennedy. Believe I already told you that the collectors so far only have found one cancelled check with his actual signature. He relied heavily on those automatic letter signing machines.

Medical researchers contend that no disease ever identified has been completely eredicated.

COWBOYS

Q. "Did the typical cowboy in the old west's cattle country ride his own horse or one that belonged to the ranch owner?"

A. Both. Besides his own mount, he was assigned several others for his use exclusively. He didn't routinely ride anybody else's horses, and nobody else rode his. He kept his best horse for night duty. If he worked a horse fairly hard on the trail, he rested it up for two to three days afterwards. Occasionally a down-and-outer relied solely on ranch horses. But then a lot of other cowboys had not just one but two of their own.

Say you tally up your checkbook stubs only to find the total doesn't jibe with your bank statement's total. Figure the difference and try to divide it by 9. If 9 goes evenly it's likely you've transposed a couple of figures in one of your entries.

TIDAL WAVE

It's not out of the question for a tidal wave which follows an earthquake to zip along at 650 m.p.h. Think of the impact of that weighty wall of water, traveling as fast as a jet plane, when it hits a port town! It's not quite conceivable. At least, I can't get a solid grasp of the power of such an avalanche. How anything at all, a dock or a warehouse or even the stone coast itself, can stand in its path seems a mystery.

Of the 12 different kinds of snow known to the weather experts, what's the most peculiar you've ever heard about? Maybe sand snow merits that distinction. Falls in the arctic only when the temperature is extremely low. It makes such a rough surface that neither skis nor sled runners can glide over it.

And the Proper Job Club membership should welcome Mrs. Mary Cashdollar, a bank cashier in Morgantown, West Virginia, what?

Correct diet after hepatitis

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 21-year-old son recovered from a mild bout of hepatitis six months ago. Can you give me some information as to the correct diet he should have? He will be home soon, and I would not want to cook anything that might hurt him. Also, he said he seems to catch colds and sore throats rather easily. Can daily vitamins help him?

Like most young (and some not so young) people he does not eat properly anyway. What can I do to help him? Should he get a physical check up more often than once a year? He loves gourmet foods and enjoys wines. Take Christmas dinner: can he eat turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, nuts, gravy, potatoes, yams, pie and roast beef? Can he eat spaghetti sauce — real Italian style?

DEAR READER — From the sounds of your letter I am afraid your son's real problem will be to avoid being overstuffed with all that delicious food. Easy on the calories mom!

Most people who have had hepatitis recover completely and can eat the same things everyone else eats. If there is residual damage the doctor should advise him on any restrictions he might have. Most people with mild liver damage can eat all carbohydrates, should eat a normal amount of protein and are well advised to avoid excess fat intake. Extra proteins won't help.

A person only needs so many vitamins and a well balanced diet should provide them. For the individual who is not careful about his eating habits a daily all purpose vitamin pill may be useful.

Liver damage and alcohol, in any form, do not mix. If your son has recovered completely and has no residual damage he could have a moderate amount of alcohol, but remember it is toxic to the liver. And I meant what I said about the calories — too many calories is the problem most people have.

To give you additional information I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-8, Living With Your Liver. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX 78292.

DEAR DR. LAMB — You had in your column not long ago an article about drinking colas. You commented that it was not a very bad habit because colas are low in caffeine content. I have also heard that it is a bad drink because it is hard on the kidneys and stomach. I have stomach aches frequently, and if I drink colas it seems to make my stomach problem worse. I was wondering if it was really because of the drink, and if colas are bad for the kidneys and stomach.

DEAR READER — For normal, healthy people a cola or two a day is not harmful. The group contains only a little caffeine, about a fourth as much as you get in a cup of coffee.

In sensitive people with acid stomach problems colas may be irritating. Also all soda drinks release gas, usually in the stomach, which increase the gas problem.

They have no effect on normal kidneys at all. The chemical balance mechanism of the body is such that it can adjust to a wide variety of acid or alkaline foods. The colas and other foods and drinks are broken down into simple substances before they can be absorbed into the blood stream. Only the simple compounds ever reach the kidneys

Colas and other soft drinks between meals may be bad for your teeth, and so are all sweets, food and drink particularly if you don't brush your teeth at once.

Conditions that have a direct bearing upon your work or career will brighten considerably this year, particularly if you are industrious, sincere and eager to do a good job.

What people say

"It's not a question of a crash. Just a steady downhill descent to hell."
—Unidentified foreign exchange dealer in London, on the fall of the British pound.

"Most of the occupational safety and health standards were not established with the view of protecting women of childbearing age in the workplace. There are over one million women working in occupations where there is potential exposure to chemical substances that might cause birth defects and miscarriages."
— Dr. John F. Finklea, director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health.

Robert Schuller

On asking right questions

"A year ago I had major surgery and it didn't look like I'd live." The young woman continued to relate her story to me, "I asked my doctor, 'Do you think I'll ever walk again?' He looked me square-in-the-eye and said, 'That's the wrong question. The right question is not do I think you'll ever walk again, but do you think you'll ever walk again?'" Her life was changed when she started asking the right question.

Problems really become serious when they cause you to take your eye off your goal. Constantly imagine that things will improve. They're not going to stay the way they are. If you imagine they're going to improve they will because you will be in a frame of mind to contribute to their improvement. And you will be receptive to God's perspective, which can turn any problem into an opportunity!

MYSTERIOUS MUNITIONS CACHE — Sheriff's deputies look over some of the items found in a cache of weapons and ammunition near Lancaster. The cache was described as a sheriff's spokesman as "one of the largest stores of ammunition found in this country in recent years." It included napalm, mortars, hand grenades and machine guns. It was stripped of its sandy cover by winds.

High court limits scope of lower court rulings on school integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, in a decision that could drastically affect the pace and scope of school integration in major cities across the nation, has pulled the reins in on federal courts hearing such cases.

Remedies for public school segregation cannot go beyond any limited action that would cure the specific constitutional violation, the court said as it criticized the school busing plan in Austin, Tex.

The high court struck down an order of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals designed to desegregate Austin schools by busing up to 25,000 students. It told the lower court to devise a more limited plan to integrate blacks, Mexican-Americans and other whites in schools there.

"The remedy ordered appears to exceed that necessary to eliminate the effect of any official acts or omissions," Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. said in an opinion that spoke also for Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist.

Four justices gave no indication of how they voted, but at least two of them had to join in Powell's opinion to form a minimum court majority. Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented and said the lower court's sweeping order was justified.

Powell said that "large-scale busing is permissible only where the evidence supports a finding that the extent of integration sought to be achieved by busing would have existed had the school authorities fulfilled their constitutional obligations in the past."

He said school officials cannot be held responsible for racial imbalances caused by a city's residential patterns.

Such a view could carry great significance for school officials in cities such as Wilmington, Del., Indianapolis and Dayton, Ohio, where forced busing orders are being fought, and in cities such as Louisville, Ky., where officials begrudgingly have complied with such an order.

The high court's decision should please President Ford, who earlier this year asked the Justice Department to search out school desegregation cases in which forced busing could be challenged.

The Justice Department, in a friend-of-the-court brief in the Austin case, said the lower court's finding of "extensive intentional discrimination against Mexican-Americans" should be upheld.

However, government attorneys suggested that the case could be useful for the high court to "clarify the governing legal standards" in other school desegregation cases.

"The desegregation that courts are both empowered and obligated to accomplish is not the elimination of all of the racial separation without regard to its causes," the government had argued. "The existence of schools predominantly attended by members of one race does not in itself amount to racial discrimination."

Justice Powell agreed, saying the lower court could find that no remedy is needed in light of a Supreme Court decision last June that governmental policies which unintentionally discriminate against minorities are not illegal. There must be evidence of intent to discriminate, the court ruled then.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals had reversed a decision by U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts in Austin. Roberts ruled that the school district was not obliged to correct segregation in five schools because it was caused by population patterns within the school districts The circuit court said all Austin schools should reflect the racial composition of the entire school district.

Officials in Dayton have appealed to the Supreme Court a circuit court's mandate that some 15,000 students be bused to achieve a similar end, a racial balance in all district schools.

The justices decided last week to let the 3rd U.S. Circuit decide a Wilmington school desegregation case in which a three-judge federal court ordered the consolidation of 11 school districts. School officials appealed, contending that unwarranted and massive forced busing would result.

School officials in the Indianapolis area are appealing to the high court from a similar order.

In Louisville, the Jefferson County school district is now busing 20,000 of its 120,000 students under a federal court order handed down last year. The desegregation plan, calling for black-white quotas in all district schools, is being appealed.

Death bus driver testifies

YUBA CITY (AP) — The driver of a school bus that crashed killing 29 persons last May testified Tuesday that his brakes were working perfectly until seconds before the crash.

The driver, Ethan Prothero, told a hearing of the National Transportation Safety Board that his air pressure gauges were showing 120, the full pressure, all the way from Yuba City to Martinez, where the crash occurred.

The 26-year-old rented bus was taking the 50-member high school choir on an excursion trip to Orinda May 21 when the accident occurred. The crash killed 28 of the students and one adult adviser.

Prothero said he turned off on an exit ramp at Martinez, following Dean Estabrook, director of the school choir, who was driving ahead of him in a car. He said he saw Estabrook's brake lights and that "I hit my brakes and they didn't work."

He said he was driving 30 to 37 m.p.h.

"Things started happening pretty fast about then. I started pulling everything I could do and changing gears to try to stop the bus," Prothero said.

He said the wind had been blowing so hard he could hardly keep the bus on the road. As he was rounding the exit ramp, his bus wheels went up on the curb.

"I was fighting the wheel all the time. The wind was hitting the bus so hard it was hard to hold onto it (the wheel). Everything was blank from then on."

The bus plunged off the ramp on landed upside on the ground 22 feet below. Prothero said he woke up with an iron bar sticking in his back.

Prothero said the bus owner, Herb Brown, had told him before the trip that everything was all right on the bus except that it burned a little oil and there was sometimes a noise of air escaping.

Prothero, who had worked just a few days for the private bus company at the time of the crash, said he heard this sound several times on the trip, but the air gauges registered all right.

PREGNANT RUNNER — Mary Jones of Dallas, like many joggers, logs about 40 miles a week for physical fitness. The only difference is Mrs. Jones is pregnant and expecting a baby in three weeks. She said she ran through her last pregnancy. Her doctor said the daily running was okay as long as Mrs. Jones felt good.

Pay of city workers comparable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employes of the nation's 24 biggest cities are paid salaries comparable to those in private industry, a recent government study says, with government clerical workers earning more and skilled trades workers less than the private industry average.

No single city is the consistent pay leader in the wide range of employe categories, but Los Angeles, Chicago and Milwaukee were near the top in two job classifications.

"Lowest pay was generally reported for Indianapolis, Jacksonville, Fla., and New Orleans," according to the study by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The bureau reported that "pay tended to be highest in Northeastern and Western cities and lowest in the South."

The study, involving wages paid between August 1974 and August 1975, compared city and private industry salaries in cities with more than 500,000 population. Bureau analyst Richard Keller said the study did not deal with such factors as working conditions or job security.

"Job security sometimes makes city work more attractive than private employment," said Keller. "Economic changes usually effect private industry before the impact hits the city (government.)"

Clerical workers in 14 cities were drawing higher pay than their counterparts in local private industry, the study showed, with municipal workers in Columbus, Ohio, Milwaukee, Los Angeles and Philadelphia taking home at least 15 per cent more.

Houston exemplified one of the dangers of generalizing — the city's senior stenographers made 14 per cent less than the local private industry average, while accounting clerks earned 22 per cent more.

Skilled city workers, including painters, carpenters and electricians, earned less than in private industry in 14 cities. In Atlanta, Indianapolis, Jacksonville, Kansas City, New Orleans and St. Louis, pay levels were more than 10 per cent lower, said the study.

In seven cities where wages were based on construction rates, city skilled maintenance workers made substantially more than their private industry counterparts. This was true in Chicago, Cleveland, Memphis, Tenn., Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New York and San Francisco, the report said.

In comparing the cities to one another, "none emerged as the pay leader among clerical, skilled maintenance, public safety, sanitation and janitorial workers," said the study.

"New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco had the highest pay for public safety workers (mainly police officers and fire fighters); Chicago for sanitation workers, and Milwaukee and Chicago for janitorial workers," said the report.

Renaming Loch Ness monster

NEW YORK (AP) — They're going to name it "Nessiterris Rhombobteryx" — if they find it.

"It" is the Loch Ness monster, or Nessie as it is known to Scotland's schoolchildren.

Dr. Robert H. Rines, dean of the Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, N.H., and leader of the 1976 Loch Ness photographic expedition, claims to have seen the legendary monster in the Scottish lake in 1972. Before addressing the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Club here, he told reporters: "I'm absolutely convinced the monster exists. We know there are more than one down there."

The problem is finding Nessie — or some part of its remains. During a slide presentation, Rines and three other Americans who accompanied him explained the major difficulty in locating "the wonder of Loch Ness with the diamond shaped flipper."

The lake, 24 miles long and 900 feet deep, is filled with murky water and surrounded by high craggy walls which make up the sides. It provides miles of hiding places for unsociable monsters.

Gov. Mandel corruption trial declared mistrial

BALTIMORE (AP) — A mistrial was declared today in the political corruption trial of Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel and four codefendants in the aftermath of alleged attempts to tamper with the jury. The court ruled that publicity had interfered with the sequestered jurors.

The prosecution asked U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt to tell jurors not to discuss the case with anyone because of the "necessity of a another trial." But no immediate request was made for a new trial.

Six jurors had heard a broadcast report of the alleged jury tampering.

Speaking to reporters outside the federal courthouse, Mandel said he had "very mixed emotions" about the mistrial and said Pratt was in "a difficult position."

"I really feel we were just starting to present evidence in the case that would vindicate me completely from these charges," he said. "The evidence would show there was absolutely nothing to it."

Mandel, who spent four days a week in court since the trial began while using Fridays and weekends to take care of state business, said he has been running the state goverment "all along. I now have to go back and work on the budget" for the next fiscal year.

Arnold Weiner, Mandel's chief lawyer, said, "No one ever wants to see a mistrial, but the judge was absolutely correct in his judgement."

Pratt said he granted the defense motion reluctantly but was convinced that events following the disclosure last Friday of two alleged juror fix attempts had made it virtually impossible for Mandel and the others to get a fair trial.

Pratt said that even though the jurors and alternates were locked up before the two alleged jury tampering attempts were disclosed, these procedures were apparently inadequate.

Pratt said the U.S. marshal's office, which is responsible for keeping the jury protected from outside influences, was seriously understaffed. The judge said he thought there was a distinct probability that more jurors would be exposed if the 90-day-old trial continued for the additional 5-6 weeks it had been expected to run.

Carter ups Ohio lead in recount

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Carter increased his lead over President Ford in a recount of Ohio's presidential ballots. Oregon has begun a second count of votes in that state, which Ford carried.

Without Ohio, Carter still would have had enough Electoral College votes — two more than the required 270 — for victory. With Ohio's 25 votes, his total is 297.

The recount gave Carter 2,011,621 votes to Ford's 2,000,505, a net gain of 1,783 for Carter from his original 9,333 edge. Ford lost 121 in the recount.

Meanwhile, testimony began in U.S District Court today in a lawsuit to prevent certification of Carter as the Ohio winner.

Learning how in the classroom

Homesteading at $3,000 a year

ASHLAND, Mass. (AP) — First, they slaughtered the pig in their classroom. Then the students cut it up, fried it and sat down at their public high school desks to eat it.

These are not agriculture students, but suburban youngsters taking a course with a much less likely goal — learning how to support a family of four on $3,000 a year.

Soon they will carve up the steer they killed a month ago. Before the semester is over, they will castrate roosters and watch a calf be born.

Not everything is messy. There are also lessons in wiring a house, chopping a tree and planting a row of peas.

The course, being taken for credit by 24 students, offers a return to old ways and all-but-forgotten virtues. And though most of the teen-agers will probably never set up homesteads, their teacher says they at least will know how to fend for themselves.

"My philosophy is to create independence and teach selfpride," said Kenneth Hayes, the red-bearded teacher who designed the course.

"It bothers me to see kids get up to their necks in mortgages and bills and then work their backs off until they die," he said.

But Hayes admits that the satisfaction of independence does not come easily.

"You have to give up a lot of the absolute luxuries, like, say, dishwashers," he said. "A lot of the leisure time you'd ordinarily spend watching TV, you have to be out doing things like chopping wood."

In the model life that Hayes teaches, he said it is possible to live on $3,000 a year outside income by creating from scratch the necessities that most people are used to buying in packages.

First, the homesteader must be able to live rent-and mortgage-free. Following simple plans, Hayes said, a house can be built for $5,000. And the course teaches carpentry, wiring and plumbing.

One of the most obvious ways to save is on food. The students learn to plant vegetables, milk cows and raise chickens.

Hayes said he plans to lead the class through the woods to point out which trees are best for firewood and to show how to trap animals for meat and hides.

Homesteaders' $3,000, he said, should be saved for items that are too much bother to make at home — such as flour, salt, boots and farm machinery.

"Out of the whole class, only one student definitely wants to homestead," said Hayes. "But they all will be able to live in a rural area and do their own thing."

Denver courts test sentencing guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Criminal justice experts often complain when one judge consistently hands out light sentences, while another judge in the next courtroom always gives stiff penalties for essentially the same offense.

These critics say such disparity in sentencing is grossly unfair and may be a major reason the criminal justice system isn't very effective in curbing crime.

Now, the Denver criminal courts have become the first in the nation to test a new method of ending that disparity.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, describing the project today, said judges in several other states are watching the Denver experiment with an eye toward applying it to their own communities.

On Nov. 15, Denver criminal court judges began testing carefully-devised guidelines to determine which offenders are released on probation, which ones are sentenced to work projects and which ones are ordered to jail, and for how long.

The guidelines are designed to take the guesswork out of sentencing, to state clearly what factors the judge will consider and what weight will be given to those factors.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi has proposed a similar system for the federal courts. Justice Department officials studying the issue have not yet proposed legislation incorporating Levi's proposal.

The LEAA, part of the Justice Department, dealt with the issue by awarding $348,000 to the Criminal Justice Research Center Inc. of Albany, N.Y., to draft experimental guidelines for nonfederal courts.

The project directors were Professors Leslie Wilkins and Jack M. Kress of the State University of New York at Albany and Dean Don Gottfredson of Rutgers University in Newark. About a dozen judges worked with the researchers during the two-year project.

The work yielded a set of formulas for measuring the seriousness of a crime against the offender's previous criminal record, his schooling and employment record and other factors that theoretically reflect social stability or the lack of it.

The formula was developed specifically for Denver. It involves awarding points according to the seriousness of the crime and the offender's lack of stability.

For example, an individual convicted of a particularly serious manslaughter would get 12 points for the offense. If he were a poorly-educated drifter with a long string of previous convictions, he would get 13 points on the stability scale. These points would mean a prison sentence of eight to 10 years. Ten years is the maximum in Colorado.

Another person, convicted of the same type of crime, might get a four-year sentence if he had no previous convictions and lived a stable life resulting in credits on the stability scale.

"The guideline sentences are in no way intended to be binding, mandatory sentences," the researchers said in a written report. "The judge as human decision-maker will still retain the discretion to override any suggested guideline."

They suggested that judges issue written explanations when they deviate from the guidelines, and they estimated that this would occur in no more than 15 per cent of the cases.

Defector says

Russ building heavier MIG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian military pilot who defected last September has told U.S. officials that the Soviet air force is preparing a new, more heavily armed MIG25 than the type he flew to Japan.

Three months after Lt. Viktor I. Belenko defected, he is being kept under wraps in Eastern Virginia, where intelligence officials still are pumping the 29-year-old Russian for information.

Among other things, Belenko has described an advanced model of the supersonic MIG25 which has not yet appeared with Soviet combat units.

Sources said Belendo told CIA and Air Force intelligence experts that the new model MIG25 will be armed with six missiles, an increase of two, and a cannon, which Belenko's plane lacked.

There is general agreement that the MIG25 was designed to intercept and destroy high-altitude U.S. bombers and the fast-flying SR71 strategic spy plane. However, U.S. intelligence has learned from Belenko that the plane can reach nearly sonic speeds at low level.

This could make it a potential threat to low-altitude penetrating bombers such as the advanced B1.

U.S. intelligence experts have given military officials the results of their examination of Belenko's MIG25 while it was in Japan. The plane has since been returned to the Russians.

Some of the early judgments reported after Belenko brought the MIG to Japan have been revised. For example, U.S. experts no longer regard the large number of vacuum tubes used in its electronic gear as outmoded technology. The United States uses solid-state devices, not tubes.

Now, sources said, American engineers have decided that the miniaturized tubes in Russian electronics gear are of high quality, and they speak approvingly of much of the radar and other electronic equipment they examined on the MIG25.

The MIG was found to have a shorter combat radius than U.S. engineers had believed, and this is seen as a deficiency. Also, the MIG25 was found to be considerably heavier than anticipated, a factor which could adversely affect its combat efficiency.

Belenko has told interrogators much about his personal life, including the assertion that one reason he defected was that he really had no real emotional ties in Russia, except to his small son.

Belenko said he and his wife lived together but were not getting along. He said he had not seen his mother since he was a year old when his parents were divorced, and he said that his father was dying of cancer.

After Belenko landed in Japan, Russian officials in Moscow presented his mother and wife at a news conference to appeal for his return. The Russians also accused the United States of splitting the family by force in order to get intelligence information.

The Russian was brought to Langley Air Force Base, Va., near Williamsburg, where he won high marks as a pilot from U.S. officials.

Although kept under wraps, Belenko has visited the homes of U.S. Air Force officers and enlisted men and an enlisted men's club at Langley. On the least one occasion, has been taken to dinner at a seafood restaurant in Yorktown, Va. When U.S. intelligence is finished with him, he will probably be given a new identity.

Ski areas suffering from lack of snow

By The Associated Press

Ski areas in the Northwest are suffering economically as lack of snow postpones the beginning of the ski season.

Skiing usually begins about mid November in the mountains of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Ski areas count on the Thanksgiving holiday as their first busy period. The ski season has not been so delayed for 17 years in many areas of the Cascade Mountains.

The long-range forecast of the National Weather Service predicts a warmer, drier winter than usual for the region.

Ian Brown of Western Ski Promotions in Seattle estimated Washington resorts would lose at least $300,000 a weekend until the snow falls.

Montana resorts, generally open for Thanksgiving, have postponed their openings until the middle of this month, except for Big Mountain near Whitefish, which planned to open Friday.

Bogus Basin ski area near Boise, Idaho, laid off 25 employes involved in slope grooming, building and maintenance until the area gets enough snow to put them back to work.

"But they need to eat, and if we don't get snow before long, some of them will wind up taking other jobs," said Jim Berry, director of marketing.

Berry said Bogus Basin lost about $2,000 a day by not being open during the four-day Thanksgiving weenend and will lose about $1,000 each weekday it remains closed this month.

Tad Michel, general manager of Timberline Lodge in the northern Oregon Cascades, said his income at his resort is 60 per cent below last year's early ski season, when the lodge earned $60,000 to $70,000 during the Thanksgiving weekend. Tourists stay at the lodge, and a few skiers ride snow vehicles to permanent snow fields high on Mt. Hood.

Crews are scooping the light snowfall into piles for ski clinics at Timberline, nearby Mt. Hood Meadows and Mt. Bachelor, farther south in the Oregon Cascades.

"We have one inch on the ground and drifts of about two inches," said Dennis O'Shea, caretaker at the empty Mt. Bachelor Lodge near Bend. "But we aren't terribly upset, because it gives us a chance to get better prepared."

Grouse Mountain Resorts Ltd. at Vancouver, B.C., has western Canada's only major snow making installation. Two resorts in Colorado with artificial snow making equipment provide the next nearest opportunity for Northwest residents who want to enjoy regular skiing.

Russ Cole, general manager at the Stevens Pass ski area in the northern Washington Cascades, said, "Thanksgivings the last few years have been terrific, and we've come almost to count on it. There has been only two or three years in the last 40 that we haven't been operating by now."

Brian James, manager of Kelowna's Bit White Ski Development Ltd. in British Columbia, said, "It sounds kind of funny, but we're actually praying for lousy weather."

Frank Wilhelmsen, president of Whistler's Garibaldi Lifts Ltd. in British Columbia, said, "By this time last year, we had 20,000 people through at $7 or $8 a ticket. But so far, nothing. Only the glacier on weekends."

Bob Fritz of Big Sky of Montana, south of Bozeman, said his resort had 150 reservations canceled for the Thanksgiving holiday. Keeping the resort closed until Dec. 17 will mean a loss of about 800 room nights or $27,800, he said.

'Chivalry with indoor plumbing'

Society for Creative Anachronism reviving dark ages

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Dust off that coat of arms, beckon your favorite wench and pop open a bottle of mead. The 10-year-old Society for Creative Anachronism is reviving those dark ages of the past — the Middle Ages.

The revival doesn't embrace all aspects of the Middle Ages, said one member, Jeffrey A. DeLuca of Willimantic. There's no religious persecution, no famine and "we try not to spread the plague."

"Chivalry with indoor plumbing" is the way another member described the Middle Ages Revived version.

The society, begun in California, lists about 3,000 members in 35 chapters. They belong to guilds, DeLuca said, for wizards, cooks, exotic dancers and archers. "We have a Wenches Guild in Boston and there is a Virgins Guild, too," DeLuca said.

The society stages annually a Pentathalon of Arts, the next one early next year, probably in Philadelphia.

Members value chivalry and expect others in the society to behave like gentlewomen and gentlemen, DeLuca said. Royalty and "revolting barbarians" alike are celled "gentles," he said.

Medieval clothing is required at society events, said Susan R. Tallmadge, 21, of Hartford. She said gentles don't refer to them as "costumes" because they aren't pretending to be medieval people — they are.

John L. Leland, a knight of the society who also is a Ph.D. candidate in medieval studies at Yale, said each gentle picks a pre-1650 identity, with name, skill and appropriate clothing.

The identities may not be lifted directly from history or fiction. But a fan of Ivan the Terrible could choose to be called Ivan the Temperamental.

Not many gentles choose to be serfs. "You have more fun as a lord," said Leland — Count Sir Jehan de la Marche.

And a female member is assumed to be a lady unless stated otherwise. Said Leland: "My lady sometimes chooses to be a wench for private purposes."

The society is not invulnerable to modern movements such as women's liberation. To keep its tax-exempt status, it must allow women to joust with male contenders for the throne. Could a woman become king? "Unequivocably maybe," said Leland.

After most events, gentles gather for feasts, which include fermented milk, fermented honey — mead — and trenchers, or round, flat pieces of bread used like plates before they're eaten, too.

And the society engages in warfare among its various kingdoms. The East Kingdom fights an annual war with the Middle Kingdom over the Barony-Marche of the Debatable Lands, or Pittsburgh, DeLuca said.

The loser gets Pittsburgh.

OLD GUNSLINGER — Jess Sweeten, a 72-year-old ex-sheriff, must have been what Dist. Atty. Bill Green of Athens, Tex., had in mind when Green was elected on a promise to get tough on crime. The 6-foot-4, 225-pound Sweeten shot nine men and killed three during gun battles in his law enforcement career that stretched from 1932 until 1955. The great-grandfather will become an investigator for Green.

AMA divided over health insurance

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Medical Association's House of Delegates appears divided over what form of national health insurance to support — if any.

"With the approach of a new Congress and a new Administration, the Board of Trustees has undertaken an extensive review of national health insurance," said a report to the AMA's 30th clinical convention.

"The reason: it is important that the position be made clear at an early date."

AMA officials fear that if they don't support some form of insurance, Congress will pass one they oppose.

The urgency stems at least in part from concern that President-elect Carter, who has endorsed national health insurance, will move early in his administration toward introducing legislation on the subject.

"Let me say, right off, that the presidential election has made our future a good deal foggier as a profession," said Dr. Richard E. Palmer, president of the AMA, at the opening session on Sunday.

The AMA supports a version of national health insurance that would give workers the option of joining and which would operate through the private insurance industry, with no payroll tax.

The AMA's Board of Trustees, in a special report to the delegates, recommended that this support be continued.

But several delegations have filed resolutions opposing AMA support for any form of national health insurance. These include delegates from Nebraska, Louisiana, Illinois, South Carolina and New Mexico.

On the other hand, a joint resolution supporting the official AMA stand was introduced by the Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island delegations.

The AMA is opposed to the insurance proposal backed by organized labor and introduced in the last Congress by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif. The Kennedy-Corman system would be mandatory and not involve private firms.

"We cannot face the issue by turning our backs to it," Palmer said. "If we are to offer nothing in the way of NHI national health insurance legislation, we run the terrible risk of getting clobbered with everything. Everything would be the Kennedy-Corman bill, all at once or blow by blow."

Palmer, an Alexandria, Va., pathologist, said many congressmen agree with the AMA position.

"We cannot leave these lawmakers empty-handed against extremeists who might become more confident in the absence of presidential vetoes," he said. "It is the prerogative of you delegates to decide what our final plan should offer in clinical, financial and demographic coverage."

The trustees said a conference was held after the election with such organizations as Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the American Hospital Association, the Health Insurance Association of America.

"The concensus was clear," the trustees said, "That abandonment by the AMA of support of an NHI bill in the Congress would be extremely damaging to the maintenance of the role for the private sector."

In Washington, meanwhile, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., today called on Carter to support a national health insurance program based largely on private financing.

In a letter to the president-elect, McIntyre said a health insurance plan wholly supported by tax dollars would be too expensive.

But, at the same time, he said Democrats are committed to fulfilling a promise of the party's 1976 platform to make health insurance available to all Americans.

McIntyre said he would sponsor legislation next month that would set minimum federal standards for health insurance provided by employers or purchased by the self-employed.

When Grey wrote, "Full many a gem of purest ray serene the dark unfathomed caves of Ocean bear," he wasn't referring to bridge. But today's hand as played by Leonard Wisbey in a club game at Bremerton, Washington, is one of those gems.

The first trick produced dummy's jack of spades and East's ace. Leonard ruffed and led a diamond to dummy's jack. East took his ace and could have spoiled South's play by any lead except a spade, but he did lead a low spade.

This gave Leonard his chance. He discarded a club. West was in with the king of spades and led his queen of clubs, but it was all over.

Leonard took his ace, cashed his king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, led the 10 of spades, ruffed East's queen, played his ace of trumps, led his good queen of diamonds, ruffed it with dummy's last trump and discarded his last club on the nine of spades.

West could trump or discard but Leonard had made his contract by establishing that spade trick in dummy.

A Missouri reader was criticized for opening one notrump with:

There were only 15 high-card points in his hand.

We don't think the criticism justified. Those three 10 spots are worth a full point.

Culture vs. pro football

DETROIT (AP) — Culture in downtown Detroit is outplaying sports in suburbia — at least pro football.

The Fisher Theater in Detroit's inner city sold 54,600 season tickets for its cultural season and is still counting. The Detroit Lions, who fled to suburban Pontiac, had a final season ticket count of 48,862, down from last season.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Pension foe will collect just the same

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The lawmaker who led the fight to eliminate early legislative pensions will collect retirement pay even though he served less than the minimum time required to earn a pension.

Assemblyman Robert McLennan is one of 10 assemblymen and senators leaving office this month who will be able to draw a pension immediately because they're at least 60 or have served 20 years or more.

Two years ago, McLennan led efforts to repeal a section of state law that enabled younger state senators and assemblymen with less than 20 years service to collect pensions immediately if they left office "under conditions of reapportionment."

The repeal bill was enacted in a special legislative session. It deprived 13 legislators leaving office in 1974 — a reapportionment year — of $1.3 million in early retirement payments.

But it did not change a section that made McLennan eligible for a pension.

The Downey Republican won his Assembly seat in a special mid-1973 election.

He was re-elected in 1974, but McLennan was defeated last month in a bid for a second full term.

That means when he officially leaves office he will be six months short of the four years normally required to earn the current minimum legislative pension of $3,012 a year.

But the law also allows a lawmaker elected before July 15 of any year to have the entire year added to his service time if he makes a full year in pension contributions.

In a telephone interview, McLennan, who turned 61 Wednesday, said it will cost him "$700 and some odd dollars" to make the additional payments and qualify for a lifetime pension of $251 a month, plus annual cost of living increases.

He said he will pay the extra money.

"When I first came up here they told me I would be eligible for retirement after 60 if I was re-elected after the first partial term and if I made up the difference," he aid. "I plan to do it."

McLennan is the only state legislator leaving office this year who qualifies for a state pension with less than four years service.

Pension benefits for legislators leaving office this year start this month. The maximum annual pension is $15,420.

The legislature's only physician, McLennan also says he plans to practice medicine after leaving office and also hopes to make speeches at a member of a speaker's bureau.

The amount a legislator collects in pension payments is based his salary when he leaves office and the number of years in office up to a current maximum of $15,420.

However, retired lawmakers receive yearly cost-of-living raises in their pensions.

Four legislators leaving office this year will collect the maximum payment. They are Sens. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, and Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, and Assemblyman Pauline Davis, D-Portola.

Both Collier and Schrade are 74. Collier has served 38 years, Schrade 22. Mrs. Davis will be 60 in January and has been in office 24 years.

Other senators who will collect pensions immediately and the amounts they will receive are Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, $13,356; Robert Stevens, R-Santa Monica, $11,592; Howard Way, R-Exeter, $11,592; and James Whetmore, R-Buena Park, $11,592.

Assemblyman Ken MacDonald, D-Ojai, will draw $7,536.

Nine younger lawmakers leaving office this year after serving less than 20 years will be eligible for pensions when they reach 60.

They are Sens. Anthony Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, Clare Berryhill, R-Shingle Springs, and James Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, and Assemblyman Robert Burke, R-Huntington Beach, Robert Badham, Newport Beach, Ernest Mobley, R-Sanger, Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, and Ken Meade, D-Berkeley.

Beilenson and Badham both served 14 years and will collect $11,592 a year when they turn 60. Wedworth, Burke, Mobley, Murphy and Ralph — all 10 year veterans — will draw $7,536 a year.

Meade and Berryhill, who served six years, will receive $4,524.

Southland briefs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A black man and his white wife have filed a $3.1 million suit against the city of Whittier, a number of city officials, and Los Angeles County, claiming the couple was driven out of Whittier because of their color.

The suit was filed by George and Barbara Fisher, who operate a gardening service. They claim they were harassed and intimidated from September, 1973 to November, 1975 when they finally moved.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Beverly Hills attorney who admitted swindling $28,000 from two clients has been placed on five years' probation, ordered to make restitution and resign his attorney's license.

Sausage noodle casserole

Recipes in the "budget" category usually focus on money savings. Yet there is another resource — time — that needs budgeting, too. This Sausage Noodle Casserole is quickly put together, so qualifies for the "budget" title on all counts.

It capitalizes on convenience by calling for a sausage that is precooked and in need of mere reheating before serving. The sausage links are arranged atop a bed of cooked noodles which have been sauced with a mushroom soup mixture. Noodles take only the briefest of cooking as they finish in the oven, and since the mushroom soup is canned, the whole procedure is done in minutes.

Brown 'n serve sausage, an old friend in its original style, now is available in 7 additional variations — including beef. You can buy any of these styles in links or the original and hot in patties, ready to be browned and served for a hearty addition to the breakfast eggs, or as part of such dishes as this casserole for the main meal of the day.

Sausage Noodle Casserole is one of those basic recipes that you can vary according to inspiration, or what's on hand. Try adding a half cup or so of canned peas or carrots. It adds a bright dash of color to the dish, and it's a nice use for leftovers.

Brown 'N Serve Sausage Casserole

Yield: 4 to 6 servings

- 8 ounce package Swift Premium Brown 'n Serve Sausage
- 4 cups cooked noodles
- 10½ ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 2/3 cup milk
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ teaspoon dill weed
- 1 cup crushed potato chips

Mix together noodles, soup, milk, onion, salt and dill weed. Pour mixture into a buttered 1½ quart baking dish. Arrange Brown 'n Serve Sausages on top and sprinkle with potato chips. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 30 minutes.

Suggestion: ½ cup cooked peas or other vegetables may also be added.

Company garden lasagna

If you have your own fresh vegetables from the garden, and you've never tried vegetable lasagna, here's your chance. Lasagna macaroni with vegetables makes a superb main dish. Use a package of Chef Boy-ar-dee Lasagna Dinner which is certainly convenient and comes with its own pasta, sauce and cheese. Use some cottage cheese with the fresh or frozen vegetables, then layer with the wide noodles, plus sauce. For great flavor, top with the grated cheese from the package; bake and you have a superb dish. It's economical too, as there will be plenty to serve four to six persons.

COMPANY-GARDEN LASAGNA

- 2 packages (10 oz.) frozen spinach, cooked and drained or 1 pound fresh spinach
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 package Chef Boy-ar-dee Complete Lasagna Dinner
- 1 cup cottage cheese

Saute cooked spinach and chopped onion lightly in butter. Cook Lasagna Macaroni according to package directions. Place a layer of noodles on bottom of buttered baking dish. Spread a thin layer of spinach mixture, then half the cottage cheese and half of the sauce from the package. Repeat layers. Sprinkle with cheese from package. Bake at 425 degrees F. oven for 15-20 minutes. Serves four to six.

Fruitcake holiday treat

Fruitcake is a special holiday treat, so please everyone on your gift list this year by giving them a small festive basket filled with a mini-fruitcake.

Miniature Fruitcakes

- 2 pounds mixed candied fruit, finely chopped
- 1 pound pitted dates, finely chopped
- 1 pound pecans, finely chopped
- 2 cups unsifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 eggs
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ½ cup Karo dark corn syrup
- ¼ cup corn oil

Grease and flour 36 medium (2½ x 1¼-inch) muffin cups. In large mixing bowl stir together fruit, dates and nuts. In medium bowl stir together flour, baking powder and salt. In large bowl of electric mixer on medium speed beat eggs until foamy. Add brown sugar, corn syrup and corn oil; beat until thoroughly mixed. Gradually add flour mixture beating until smooth. Pour batter over fruit mixture. Mix until fruit is thoroughly coated. Spoon batter into prepared muffin cups filling cups almost full. Bake in a 275 degree oven 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove and cool completely on wire rack. Wrap each cake tightly in plastic wrap, then aluminum foil. Store tightly covered at room temperature, or for easier slicing, store in refrigerator. Makes 36.

Crepery craze creative

Seafarer's crepes to feature shrimp, mushrooms, cheese

Everything's coming up crepes! The crepery craze has captured the imagination of America. Little wonder, because the delicate, thin pancake with the French name offers endless menu creativity.

Whatever way you pronounce crepes — rhymed with grapes or steps — you'll have great fun experimenting with them.

Shellfish fanciers will be impressed with these spectacular seafood crepes. One small can of shrimp works wonders in these shrimply delicious crepes, when it shares the spotlight with elegant little baby early peas frozen in butter sauce. The crepe sauce base is a cupboard convenient can of shrimp soup, glamorized with succulent sliced mushrooms and nutty flavored Swiss cheese.

Next time you want to ensure the success of a dinner party or late night supper, toast your guests with a well chilled white wine and then proudly present these Seafarer's Crepes.

SEAFARER'S CREPES

Basic Crepes:
- 4 eggs
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups flour
- 2 and 1/3 cups milk
- ¼ cup vegetable oil

Seafarer's Filling:
- One 10-oz. package little baby early peas frozen in butter sauce
- One 10¾-oz. can condensed cream of shrimp soup
- One 2½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
- ¼ cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
- One 4½-oz. can shrimp, rinsed and drained
- 12 crepes
- 1/3 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- Grated parmesan cheese

BASIC CREPES: Beat eggs and salt together with an egg beater or electric mixer. Add flour and milk gradually and alternately, beating after each addition until smooth. Beat in oil. If you wish, leave the batter stand at room temperature for one hour.

Heat a 6 or 8-inch non-stick skillet/saute pan over a medium-high heat (regular skillets should be lightly greased). Lift the pan above the heating element as you pour in 2 to 3 tablespoons of batter so it covers the bottom of the pan. Place the pan over the heat and cook until golden brown. Carefully turn the crepe with a rubber spatula. Remove crepe from pan with spatula and stack on a plate. Makes 25 to 30 crepes. This basic recipe makes a lot of crepes — great for making ahead and keeping on hand. If you don't care to have the extras, simply cut the recipe in half to have enough for the Seafarer's Crepes.

SEAFARER'S FILLING: Cook peas according to packages directions only until thawed. Snip pouch and drain butter sauce into a medium saucepan; combine with soup and mushrooms; heat through. Stir in Swiss cheese and sour cream. Heat until cheese is melted.

Combine peas and shrimp; place 1 or 2 spoonsful on each of 12 crepes. Top with a generous spoonful of soup mixture. Fold crepes and place, seam side up, in a large shallow baking dish or 2 each in individual baking dishes. Combine remaining peas and shrimp, if any, with remaining soup mixture; spoon over crepes. Top with Swiss cheese and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Serves 6.

CHRISTINE FRIEDLANDER'S DUMPLINGS

A superb offering from Austria.
- 7½ or 8-ounce package farmer cheese
- 1 large egg
- 1½ tablespoons flour

Fill a 5 or 6-quart saucepot ¾ full of water; add 1 tablespoon salt; heat. With a fork beat together cheese, unbeaten egg and flour until blended; let stand about 5 minutes. With wet hands, using 1 level tablespoon for each, shape into balls. Have the salted water boiling and add the dumplings — they will sink. Boil until dumplings all come to the top — a few minutes. Let stand off heat, tightly covered, for 5 minutes. Serve with melted butter and cinnamon-sugar. Makes about 1 dozen — enough for 4 servings.

FAMILY DINNER

Lamb and Rice Pilaf
Spinach Sliced Tomatoes
Butterscotch Brownies

LAMB AND RICE PILAF
- 4 shoulder lamb chops, about 1¾ pounds
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, chopped medium-fine ½ cup
- 1 cup converted rice
- ¼ cup dried currants
- 2 tablespoons minced celery tops
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Grated rind of 1 medium orange
- 1¼ cups orange juice
- 1 teaspoon chicken bouillon granules dissolved in 1 cup boiling water

Trim fat from around chops. In a 10-inch skillet quickly brown chops; remove and pour off fat. Add butter and onion to skillet; cook gently, stirring often, until softened. Stir in the remaining ingredients. Arrange chops on top. Simmer, covered, until rice and chops are tender and liquid is absorbed — about 40 minutes. Makes 4 servings with plenty of rice.

AVOCADO LIME PIE

It has no-cook filling.
- 2 large avocados, seeded and peeled
- 2 teaspoons grated lime rind
- ½ cup lime juice
- 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk

Baked 9-inch pie shell. Sieve avocados — there should be from 1½ to 2 cups. Stir in lime rind and lime juice, then condensed milk. Turn into the pie shell. Chill for at least several hours to allow filling to set. Pretty garnished with whipped cream.

POPCORN DRUMS

Pop-poppity-pop

Popcorn drum 'musical' snack for Yule season

Christmas is so many things — joy and peace and family; and for the homemaker especially-sight and taste, and sound, too. One of the happiest sounds of the season, whether in the kitchen or at the fireside, is the pop-poppety-pop of the bursting kernels as the season's favorite snack is being prepared.

Now you can add to this welcome syncopation the "pop-parum-pum-pum" of the legendary little drummer boy, because here's an ideal decoration for the festive occasion — A Popcorn Drum.

Delightfully imaginative, very much in tune with the times, the Popcorn Drum is really quite easy to make. A junior hostess can take pride in fixing it all by herself, following the simple step-by-step instructions. For a youngster's Christmas party it might even be fun to provide every guest with a pair of popcorn ball drumsticks for a take-home favor, in addition to the two that come with the drum itself.

The latter is really essentially a crunchy, munchy popcorn cake. (You shape it in a springform pan.) So after the party's over, the ribbons and pins and rickrack can be removed, and the drum can be broken up for nibbling by the clean-up crew. That is, you can do this if anyone can bear to destroy such a clever centerpiece. Somehow, we think that if you make the drum, you'll save it in all its glory all through the holidays for everyone to admire, and just keep on popping up extra fluffy white batches of popcorn for the snack-happy crowd.

POPCORN DRUM

4 quarts warm popped popcorn
Quickie Glaze:
1 1/3 cups light corn syrup
1 1/3 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Materials:
2 wooden hibachi skewers, 13 inches long
1 circle (7½ inches) white cardboard
Gummed foil stars, gold or red
Green ribbon, ½ inch wide
Red ribbon, ¼ inch wide
Gold rickrack
Colored, round-headed straight pins
2 small sprigs plastic greens

Keep popcorn warm in a 300-degree oven. In a heavy medium saucepan, combine corn syrup, sugar and salt. Bring to boiling over medium heat; boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour syrup slowly over popcorn and toss to coat.

DRUMSTICKS: Shape two 1½ inch balls for heads of sticks. Insert skewers; set aside. DRUM: Quickly pack remainder of coated popcorn into a buttered 8-inch springform pan, reserving some popcorn for rim. Place cardboard circle, decorated with stars, on top for drum head; form a rim ¾ inch high around edge of circle with remaining popcorn. Cool and remove from pan.

TO APPLY FINISHING TOUCHES: Using pins, fasten green ribbon with rickrack on top around drum just below rim and at bottom; zigzag red ribbon between green ribbons, fastening points with pins. Tie greens to skewers near drumstick heads with red ribbon.

NOTE: To make large drum, make 1½ times the popcorn recipe and form in a 10-inch springform pan. Decorate as directed above.

Deviled tuna, noodles make low-cost convenience meals

For budget-watchers, the key to low-cost satisfying meals is canned tuna in vegetable oil. It's one of the original "Convenience" foods. There's no defrosting. No pre-cooking. It's ready to eat as is or to be combined with other ingredients in cooked or baked dishes. In fact, it's just as delicious in hot dishes as it is in salads or sandwiches. Maybe more so. (And it's a maindish food that's one of the highest in complete protein.)

For example, one thrifty dish — substantial and a whiz to prepare — is Deviled Tuna and Noodles. You just put up the noodles and while they're cooking, you can fix the appetizing tuna sauce. Before you know it, the noodles are done, the sauce is ready to spoon over them — and you can sit down to eat and enjoy. Even hearty eaters will find Deviled Tuna and Noodles filling.

Another dish with lots of appeal is Tuna and Noodles Alfredo, based on the famous Fettuccine Alfredo (thin noodles combined with butter, cream and grated Parmesan cheese). In this version, canned tuna is added to the flavorful cheese sauce and served over a mixture of regular egg noodles and green noodles. It looks very special — and is a fine dish to serve at informal get-togethers with friends.

Many people have cut down on meat consumption and have found tuna can easily be used in many family favorites usually made with meat or poultry. And since tuna is on sale regularly in many parts of the country, budget-watchers can save money, as well as time and energy, by serving tuna at least twice a week.

DEVILED TUNA AND NOODLES

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅓ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1¾ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
8 ounces egg noodles, cooked according to package directions

In a medium saucepan melt butter. Add onion and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Blend in flour; stir in milk, salt, dry mustard, pepper and parsley. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Add tuna, eggs and lemon juice; cook 5 minutes longer. Spoon tuna sauce over hot cooked noodles. If desired, sprinkle with additional parsley.

YIELD: 4 servings.

TUNA AND NOODLES ALFREDO

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons grated onion
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2½ cups milk
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
2 cups uncooked green egg noodles
2 cups uncooked regular egg noodles

In a medium saucepan melt butter. Blend in onion, flour and pepper. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Stir in Swiss cheese, Parmesan cheese and tuna. While sauce is cooking, cook noodles according to package directions, drain and turn into serving bowl. Spoon tuna mixture over noodles and serve immediately.

YIELD: 4 servings.

Italian stuffed artichokes rated

The Italians are experts at cooking artichokes in many delicious ways. One of them is to make stuffed artichoke dishes that become the main part of the meal.

ITALIAN STUFFED ARTICHOKES

4 to 6 large California Artichokes
1½ cups Mrs. Cubbison's All-Purpose Dressing or Corn Bread Stuffin'
¼ cup chopped parsley
2 cloves garlic, finely minced
1 tablespoon capers, well drained
3 to 4 slices Italian dry salami, cut julienne
2 tablespoons water or dry white wine
¾ cup oil (half olive if desired)

To prepare artichokes for stuffing: Trim stem ends so artichokes will sit flat and strip off any small outer leaves. Put artichokes on a board and with a sharp knife cut about ¾ inch off the top of each. Firmly press the cut portion on board to loosen leaves. Spread leaves apart to hold the flavor-imparting stuffing. Combine dressing with parsley, garlic, capers, salami and water. Force some of the stuffing down to the heart of each artichoke and between the leaves.

Fit artichokes snugly in deep casserole. Pour oil around artichokes and drizzle a bit atop each one. Cover casserole tightly with lid or aluminum foil. Bake at 350 degrees 45 minutes to 1 hour until a fork easily pierces artichoke bottoms.

Serve hot or at room temperature. No sauce or butter is needed for dipping. Makes 4-6 servings.

Cocoa 'bean' supply short

The price of cocoa beans has risen more than 420 per cent since 1971, more than any other agricultural commodity and trade indications are that further increases may be in store.

A year ago, the price of cocoa beans on the futures market for December delivery was about $.60 a pound. This year, the price has hit new highs of $1.31 a pound; in 1971 it was $.23.

Reports from West Africa, principal home of the cacao tree, indicate this year's cocoa bean crop will be poor. The reason: lack of rainfall and other detrimental growing conditions.

A poor crop this year will make the second year in a row that supply has failed to meet demand, which leads to the higher prices. Some market observers believe this year's crop could be some 70,000 (metric) tons less than demand. Last year's crop was about 9,000 (metric) tons short. World production hasn't changed much since the 1964-65 crop, while consumption is up nearly 200,000 (metric) tons.

Other agricultural commodities have also undergone price increases in recent years, but none as much as the cocoa bean. Coffee beans are up 268 per cent since 1971, corn is up 135 per cent, wheat 73 per cent, potatoes 63 per cent. Sugar prices are about 30 per cent higher than 1971.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics index of nine food commodities has doubled since 1971, while the price of cocoa beans has more than quadrupled.

The cocoa bean and its extract are used to make chocolate — for candy, baked goods, syrups, ice cream, flavorings and suntan lotions.

The growing area for cocoa beans is limited to tropical climates within 20 degrees of the Equator. The bulk of bean production comes from the West coast of Africa.

Cocoa beans grow in the pods of the cacao tree, 35 to 45 beans per pod. The pods, which resemble skinny footballs, are removed from the trees with machetes and it requires a machete to crack open the pod. It takes about six years for the cacao tree to start bearing fruit.

After the harvest, which is underway now, the beans go through a fermentation period, and then are dried. Later, the beans are roasted to produce a chocolate liquor, yielding about 80 pounds of liquor from each 100 pounds of beans. This liquor is processed to produce cocoa butter and cocoa powder.

Brazil and the Ivory Coast are making strong efforts to increase cocoa bean production. In Brazil, a government agency, CEPLAC, does agricultural research and provides information to farmers in an effort to increase the crop, much like U.S. Agricultural Research Stations.

Indian tuna balls in yogurt sauce Holiday treat

With the holdiays come many parties. For a change, treat your guests to an adventure in eating from India. Not all Indian dishes are hot or flavored with curry since there are at least 15 regional cuisines in India.

Indians believe that the careful blending of seasonings is the criterion of fine food. This differs from the extensive Chinese cuisine many are coming to know.

Interesting and economical for entertaining is the light meatless cookery evolved by Zoroastrians in western India. This is based upon vegetables, legumes and rice served on a thali, or round brass or nickel-plated tray, in three or four shining bowls. Each bowl has a different vegetable preparation and there is usually dahl — a spicy lentil sauce — a fluffy rice pillau and Indian bread, such as Chapati. Here is a complete Indian meal done with an American twist. The protein item was inspired by a Kashmiri dish (Ghoshtaba) and uses tuna. You may want to sample each recipe to serve individually with your favorite meats and vegetables, too. Or, why not use them as a base for a round-robin meal with one recipe assigned to each couple to bring to a dinner party. The thali was inspired by Gaylord's Indian restaurant in New York City. Serve with beer or iced or hot tea and milk flavored with cinnamon, cardamom, ginger and sugar.

INDIAN TUNA BALLS IN YOGURT SAUCE

- 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
- ¾ teaspoon salt, divided
- 1¾ teaspoon ground cardamom, divided
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 eggs
- ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 2 cups plain yogurt
- 1½ tablespoons flour mixed with ¼ cup cold water
- ¼ cup heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 whole cloves

Drain tuna and turn into medium bowl. Break into fine flakes. Add one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon cardamom, ginger, 1 clove, minced garlic, onion, eggs and bread crumbs; mix well. Shape into one and one-half-inch balls. Place tuna balls in shallow baking pan and bake uncovered in 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes or until golden brown. Meanwhile, prepare sauce. In medium saucepan melt butter. Add remaining one and one-fourth teaspoon salt, sugar and cloves. Add tuna balls to sauce, cover and let stand 1 to 3 hours to develop flavors. Return to heat and cook covered over low heat until hot. Do not boil. Makes 6 servings.

RICE

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/16 teaspoon saffron
- 1 cup uncooked long-grain rice
- ¼ cup currants
- 1 vegetable bouillon cube dissolved in 2 cups clear vegetable broth
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1/3 cup coarsely chopped cashew nuts

In medium saucepan, melt butter. Add chopped onion, cardamom, nutmeg and saffron. Cook over low heat until onion is tender. Add rice and cook until all butter is absorbed. Add currants, vegetable bouillon and salt. Cover and cook over very low heat for 30 to 40 minutes or until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender. Stir in cashews. Makes 6 servings.

MATTAR PANEER
(Peas and Cheese)

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¾ teaspoon tumeric
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne
- ¼ teaspoon ground cumin
- ½ teaspoon ground coriander
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 cup finely chopped tomato
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas, thawed
- ½ pound milk white cheese (such as Mozzarella)

In large skillet melt butter. Add onion, turmeric, cayenne, cumin, coriander and cook until onion is tender. Add salt, chicken broth and tomato. Simmer uncovered until liquid is reduced by half. Add thawed peas. Cover and cook 5 to 10 minutes or until peas are cooked. Cut cheese into one-fourth-inch cubes and add to peas. Serve immediately; do not melt cheese. Makes 6 servings.

DAHL

- 1 cup dried lentils
- 6 cups water
- 1 teaspoon turmeric
- 1 teaspoon cumin seeds
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 onion cut in quarters

Rinse lentils and add to large saucepan with remaining ingredients. Place over medium heat, partially cover and simmer 1 hour. Remove onion. Makes 6 servings.

CURRIED CARROTS AND CELERY

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ teaspoon mustard seeds
- ¼ teaspoon ground cumin
- ½ teaspoon ground coriander
- ½ teaspoon turmeric
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne
- 3 carrots, pared and cut into ¼-inch slices (2 cups)
- 1 cup sliced celery
- ½ cup water
- ½ teaspoon salt

Melt butter in large skillet. Add mustard seeds, cumin, coriander, turmeric and cayenne. Cook over very low heat until mustard seeds begin to pop. Watch that spices don't burn; reduce heat if necessary. Add carrots and celery; mix well. Add water and salt, cover and cook over moderate heat until vegetables are tender, 15 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

YOGURT AND CUCUMBER

- 2 cups plain yogurt
- 1 medium cucumber, pared, seeded and chopped
- 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh mint (optional)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne

Mix yogurt, cucumber, lemon rind, mint and salt in small bowl. Chill. Sprinkle with cayenne before serving. Makes 6 servings.

CHAPATIS
(Whole Wheat Flat Bread)

- 2 cups whole wheat flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup milk
- ½ to ¾ cup water

Measure flour and salt into medium bowl; cut in butter. Make shallow well in center of flour mixture. Pour in milk, mix with fork until milk is absorbed. Mix in water, a tablespoon at a time adding enough water to make a smooth, firm, compact ball that is not sticky. Knead dough for 8 to 10 minutes on a lightly floured surface. Cover and let rest about 30 minutes. To make each Chapati, pinch off about 2 tablespoons dough. Roll into a very thin circle, about 5 inches in diameter. Place in hot Teflon-lined or lightly greased skillet, or on a hot griddle, and cook over moderately high heat about 30 seconds, or until bubbles form. Turn and "bake" another 30 seconds. Keep warm while baking remaining dough. Chapatis may also be prepared ahead and reheated on baking sheet in 350-degree oven for about 10 minutes. Makes 12 to 16 Chapatis.

Savory chicken bisque

We all know that a bisque is a thick, rich, creamy soup. But few of us have ever actually made this great, simple-to-make soup. Here's a different recipe that uses leftover chicken (the most versatile and cheapest of meats) and Salignac Cognac as flavoring.

CHICKEN BISQUE

- ½ cup small julienne cut carrot strips
- ¼ cup chopped green onion
- 3 tablespoons butter
- ¼ cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash of nutmeg
- Dash of white pepper
- 10¾ ounce can chicken broth
- ¼ cup Salignac Cognac
- 1 cup whipping cream
- ¼ cup milk
- 1 cup finely chopped cooked chicken

Saute carrots and onions slowly in butter just until carrots are tender. Stir in flour, salt, nutmeg and white pepper. Slowly add chicken broth and cognac and heat to boiling. Lower heat and simmer, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cream, milk and chicken. Return just to simmering. Makes 4 servings. (3 cups).

Crimson 'cranberry' confections welcome gifts

It's no wonder cranberries have been called the Christmas berry. Not only has this glistening crimson fruit been used to garland the most enchanting trees for generations, but it brings its scintillating flavor to a variety of delectable confections perfect for the festivities.

Here are six cranberry confections that will bring to sweet reality those wondrous "visions of sugarplums" poetically described in Clement Moore's "The Night Before Christmas."

Bonny "Berry Christmas Bells and Trees" is a snap to prepare cookie recipe. Let your tots help cut the shapes and then spread them with cranberry-orange relish. "Cranberry Gingerbread People" will delight children and adults alike.

"Mini Cranberry Cupcakes" couldn't be more delicious. Into the batter is mixed a tasteful blend of brown sugar, egg, cottage cheese, raisins, and fresh cranberries.

Holiday time is surely not time to think about diets, and "Berry Red 'N Green Fudge" will please the most discriminating "sweet teeth." It combines cream cheese, confectioners' sugar, almond extract, almonds, and fresh cranberries. "Cranberry Coconut Fruit Balls" are a piquant mix of apricots, fresh cranberries, pecan, orange rind, confectioners' sugar, butter, graham cracker crumbs, and grated coconut which is lightly tinted with red and green food coloring.

And, for a last sweet tempter, "Tiny Tim Cranberry Tarts" will be gobbled up before you can possibly say "Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night."

BERRY CHRISTMAS BELLS AND TREES

(Makes about 5 dozen depending on size of cookie cutter)

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups confectioners' sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 jar (14 ounces) Ocean Spray cranberry-orange relish

In a bowl cream butter until light and fluffy. Beat in sugar, egg and vanilla. Add flour and baking powder. Knead dough for a few times on a floured surface until a smooth ball is formed. Wrap and chill for 2 hours. On a heavily floured surface roll out ½ of dough to ¼ inch thickness. Cut dough with a cookie cutter into bells and Christmas trees. Refrigerate other half of dough until needed. Bake on greased cookie sheets in a pre-heated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 7 to 8 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove to rack to cool.

CRANBERRY GINGERBREAD PEOPLE

- 2 packages (14 ounces each) gingerbread mix
- ½ cup lukewarm Ocean Spray cranberry juice cocktail
- Ocean Spray fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained

In a bowl, combine gingerbread mix and cranberry juice. Knead dough on a floured surface until a smooth ball is formed. Wrap and chill for 1 hour. Roll dough on a heavily floured surface into a rectangle ¼ inch thick. Cut with floured cutters into gingerbread men and women. Place cookies on large greased cookie sheets. Decorate cookies with fresh cranberries. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 8 to 10 minutes or until puffed and firm. Cool on cookie sheets and then place into airtight containers in a cool dry place.

MINI CRANBERRY CUPCAKES

(Makes 24)

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup (12 ounces) cottage cheese
- 1 cup raisins
- 2 cups Ocean Spray fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
- 2½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking soda

In a bowl, cream butter until light and fluffy. Stir in sugar, egg and cottage cheese. Fold in raisins and cranberries. Stir cupcakein flour, salt and baking soda. Spoon batter into paper lined muffin pan cups filling each cup ¾ full. Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes or until puffed and brown. Serve sprinkled with confectioners' sugar; if desired.

BERRY RED 'N GREEN FUDGE

(Makes 1—9 inch square pan)

- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
- 2 pounds confectioners' sugar
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- Green food coloring
- 1 cup chopped almonds
- 1 cup Ocean Spray fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained

In a bowl, mash cream cheese until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar. Beat in almond extract and enough green food coloring to make a bright green. Knead in almonds. Line a 9 inch square pan with foil and press half of the fudge into an even layer. Place cranberries evenly over fudge. Cover with remaining fudge and press until level. Chill for several hours. cut into 1 inch squares with a sharp knife. Store in refrigerator until ready to serve.

CRANBERRY COCONUT FRUIT BALLS

(Makes 100 — ¾ inch balls)

- 1 package (12 ounces) dried apricots
- 1½ cups pecans
- 2 cups Ocean Spray fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
- Grated rind of 1 orange or 1 tablespoon bottled grated orange rind
- ¼ cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 pound confectioners' sugar
- 1 package (13½ ounces) graham cracker crumbs
- 2 cans (3½ ounces each) flaked coconut
- Red and green vegetable food coloring

Coarsely grind apricots with pecans and cranberries. Stir in orange rind, butter, sugar and crumbs. Wrap and chill for 2 hours. Shape mixture into ¾ inch balls. If desired balls may be rolled in coconut. Tint coconut red or green by using a few drops of food coloring and rubbing each color into coconut. Store in refrigerator until ready to serve.

TINY TIM CRANBERRY TARTS

(Makes 24)

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 72 Ocean Spray fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained

In a bowl, mix butter, cream cheese and flour with the fingers until a ball of dough is formed. Cut dough into 24 pieces and place each piece into a tea-size muffin pan cup. With the fingers press dough to line the bottom and sides of each cup. In a bowl, mix egg, sugar, butter, vanilla and nuts. Place 3 cranberries in each cup and spoon some egg mixture over cranberries, filling each cup to the top. Bake in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes or until richly browned. Cool in cups and then remove each tart by running the tip of a knife around edge.

Festive fruit punch for holiday 'slow sippers'

There's something in the briskness of late autumn air that fills us with warm feelings in anticipation of the holiday season. As the New Year approaches, old friends become ever so dear. 'Tis the season to link the past with the future, to celebrate, to reminisce — or, as the saying goes, 'tis the season to be jolly!

What a wonderful time to throw a pre-Christmas party. And, despite the budget crunch unavoidable during the Christmas buying season, a gleeful get-together can be accomplished with minimal effort and cost.

Part of the answer to your pocketbook woes is easily supplied by two festive punches that will aptly fit into your Christmas theme. Using the holiday colors of gold and red, a Smuggler's Brew Scotch Punch will please the more robust drinkers in your crowd as a Peter Heering Festive Fruit Punch will delight the "slow sippers."

Little effort is necessary to put together this smashing party. The array of fresh vegetables may be served raw or "blanched" — a simple procedure of par-boiling particularly suitable for broccoli and cauliflower. To blanche, drop your vegetables in a large pot of boiling water for 3-5 minutes. This should be done far enough in advance so the blanched vegetables can be chilled and served cold with the raw.

Three different and appealing dips will add flavor and variety to your "vegetable." And, a bowl of chips or pretzels will satisfy the non-vegetable eaters, especially when accompanied by the delicious blue cheese/walnut, herb, and curry dip recipes shown below.

But be prepared, for not only will your party earn you praise from your guests on your creativity and originality but when your husband sees how little it costs he'll be having you throw parties every weekend!

SCOTCH PUNCH

1 fifth Drambuie
1 fifth scotch
3 cups strong tea
Juice of six oranges and six lemons
3 bottles of ginger ale

Blend the above ingredients, except the soda, completely and let the mixture stand for several hours. At serving time, pour it over icecubes in a punch bowl and gently stir in the three bottles of ginger ale. For a touch of originality serve this cool brew in a glistening crock of copper or brass.

FESTIVE FRUIT PUNCH

1 fifth Peter Heering liqueur
2 bottles club soda
Juice of 4 lemons
4 cups assorted fruit (apples, oranges, lemons, and cherries)

Mix Peter Heering and lemon juice one hour before serving time. Just prior to serving, pour liqueur mixture over ice and add the club soda. Float the pre-cut fresh fruit on top of the punch.

WALNUT-BLUE CHEESE DIP

8 ounces blue cheese
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup mayonnaise
½ cup oil
½ cup Peter Heering liqueur

Blend blue cheese, mayonnaise, oil, and Peter Heering, adding the oil gradually, until mixture reaches desired consistency. Pour mixture into a serving bowl stirring in walnuts last. Garnish with shelled walnut halves.

HERBAL HEAVEN

1 cup plain yogurt
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon parsley
1 tablespoon dehydrated onion flakes
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon celery seed
Dash of freshly ground pepper and salt

Blend all of the above ingredients at high speed until thoroughly mixed (about 2 minutes). Chill for at least one hour. Garnish with chopped scallions or sprigs of parsley.

CURRY DIP

1 cup commercial salad dressing (no mayonnaise)
2/3 cup oil
1/3 cup vinegar
3 tablespoons curry powder
1 tablespoon cumin seed (ground)
Dry mustard to taste

Blend all ingredients until mixture reaches an even consistency. Serve immediately or keep covered until ready to serve as this dip will form a crust if exposed to air for a long period of time.

Stuffed acorn squash

Acorn squash sounds good anytime, but rates star billing around the holidays. This acorn squash is stuffed with pork sausage, onion and peppers, then flavored with mellow brew to bring out the true flavor of all.

If you want a simple winter fare one evening, simply serve the stuffed squash with hot biscuits and cold beer, of course!

STUFFED ACORN SQUASH

1 pound bulk pork sausage meat
1 medium onion, chopped
1 medium green pepper, chopped
½ cup beer
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 acorn squash
Salt
Pepper

In skillet, fry sausage meat, onion and green pepper, scrambling together. Meanwhile, pour beer over bread crumbs and let soak. When meat is lightly browned, pour off accumulated fat and squeeze out excess liquid from bread crumbs. Toss meat and bread together to mix thoroughly. Cut squash in half and clean out centers. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Fill centers with sausage mixture. Place in baking dish and cover with aluminum foil. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees F. Remove foil cover and continue baking another 30 minutes until squash is done. Yield: 4 servings.

Electric cooker capers

Summer shouldn't have to mean salads every night! After all if you cook your meal in a slow electric cooker you can still have the day free for swimming, tennis or any favorite playday, and you won't even heat up your kitchen.

A hearty delicious meal to try is Sausage & Sauerkraut — hunks of sausage buried in heaps of kraut flavored with beer, caraway seeds, bacon and apples. Sausage and beer are such naturals they go together perfectly and apples add just the right touch of sweetness.

Sausage & Sauerkraut

3 strips bacon, cut into small pieces
1½ tablespoons flour
2 large cans (1½ lbs. each) sauerkraut
2 small apples, cubed
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1½ teaspoons caraway seeds
3 pounds Polish sausage cut in 1½" pieces
½ cup beer

Fry bacon until crisp; drain. Add flour to bacon drippings and blend well. Stir in sauerkraut; mix well. Place sauerkraut mixture and bacon pieces in slow electric cooker. Add all other ingredients; stir together thoroughly. Cover and cook on low for 7 to 9 hours. (High: 3 to 4 hours.)

Cranberry Christmas tree cake mood dish

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Crimson colorful cranberries no longer are locked into their companion role as mold or relish to be served with holiday turkey and chicken.

Those in the experimental mood discovered that these native berries spice up dips for hot or cold hors d'oeuvres, add special flavor to cakes and make the base for a rich, creamy "float" drink. Especially attractive, the cranberry becomes more so when presented in a homemade centerpiece as a green-and-red Christmas tree cake. More and more of those who enjoy the taste and visual pleasure of dining find this berry extremely versatile.

CRANBERRY CHRISTMAS TREE CAKE

1 package (18½ oz.) yellow cake mix
½ cup all-purpose flour
4 eggs
½ cup salad oil
1 cup water
Grated rind of 1 orange or 1 tablespoon bottled grated orange rind
½ cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon rum or brandy flavoring
½ cup cranberry-orange relish of ½ cup finely chopped fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
1 can (16½ oz.) vanilla frosting
1 can (3½ oz.) cocoanut
Green food coloring
Additional fresh cranberries for decoration

In a bowl, mix cake mix, flour, eggs, oil, water and orange rind until smooth and well blended. Stir in nuts, flavoring and cranberries. Pour mixture into a greased and floured 1½-quart cone-shaped mold. Fill mold to within 1 inch of the top. Some of the batter will remain and this may be baked in muffin pan cups for cupcakes. Bake cake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 hour or until cake feels firm to the touch in the center. Bake cupcakes 25-30 minutes. Cool cake in pan 5 minutes, then unmold onto a cake rack. Cool thoroughly. Place cake on serving platter and spread entire cake with frosting. Place coconut into a bowl and add 4 drops of green food coloring. Rub the coconut and coloring with finger tip until all coconut is colored green. Press coconut into frosting all over cake. Decorate cake with cranberries. Garnish the bottom of cake with sprigs of fern; if desired. To candy the fresh cranberries, simply dip them into a mixture of sugar and egg whites. Then allow to dry at room temperature. They'll have a frosty look. Makes one cone-shaped cake.

SPICY BERRY DIP

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 onion, minced
1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
1 cup chopped chutney
1 cup chili sauce

In a one-and one-half-quart saucepan, melt butter and cook onion until golden. Stir in remaining ingredients and simmer until hot and bubbly. Place over a warmer and spear meatballs, miniature frankfurters, shrimp, ham cubes, or crab meat chunks on fondue forks. Dip into hot mixture. Makes four cups.

CREAMY CRANBERRY FLOAT

2 cups cranberry apple juice, chilled
1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
2 cups orange yogurt or 2 eight-ounce containers
Crushed ice, orange peel twist

In a bowl, blend cranberry juice, ice cream and yogurt. With a rotary beater beat until smooth and well blended. Pour into 6 glasses each containing some crushed ice. Garnish each with an orange peel twist. To serve a large crowd, double or triple quantities for a punch bowl. Makes six servings.

Chili corn

Your outdoor enthusiasts will love Chili Corn Bake on a brisk fall day. Cook one 10-oz package whole kernel corn frozen in butter sauce according to package directions. In a 1-quart casserole, combine the corn and butter sauce with a 16-oz. can of chili without beans and ¾ cup shredded cheddar cheese. Top with crushed corn chips and bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 3 to 4.

ATTENTION!

AND ALSO

those with changes must be republished at the time of refiling

HERE IS THE LAW —
(Business and Professions Code)

Sec. 17917
(c) Where a new statement is required because the prior statement has expired under subdivision (a) of Section 17920, the new statement need not be published unless there has been a change in the information required in the expired statement.

Sec. 17920
(a) Unless the statement expires earlier under subdivision (b) or (c), a fictitious business name statement expires at the end of five years from December 31 of the year in which it was filed in the office of the county clerk.

Sec. 17917
(b) Subject to the requirements of subdivision (a), the newspaper selected for the publication of the statement should be one that circulates in the area where the business is to be conducted.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE FIVE-YEAR FICTITIOUS NAME LAW

1. QUESTION: When do new requirements in the Fictitious Name Law go into effect?
ANSWER: Beginning January 1, 1976, all statements filed during 1971 must be refiled with the County Clerk.
2. QUESTION: Who must file the required new statement of doing business under a fictitious name?
ANSWER: All individuals, partnerships, trusts, corporations and associations which operate under names not their own must refile.
3. QUESTION: Is there a statutory fee for refiling?
ANSWER: Yes, by law the County Clerk must charge $10.00.
4. QUESTION: Will 1971 registrants receive notification from the County Clerk as to the statutory requirement that they must refile in 1976?
ANSWER: Yes, the law requires the County Clerk to give such notice at least two months before the end of the year 1976. In Los Angeles County, where 75,000 statements were filed and published in 1971, notifications by post card will begin to go to registrants in January, 1976, when all those who registered in January, February, or March, 1971, will receive notice with the offer of forms for refiling. In April, similarly, those who filed in April, May, or June 1971, will be notified and in July those who filed in July, August, or September 1971, and in October those who filed in October, November and December, 1971.
5. QUESTION: Must statements when refiled be republished?
ANSWER: Yes, if there has been any change in the statement as originally filed in 1971.
6. QUESTION: What is a Fictitious Firm Name?
ANSWER: One that does not include the surname of the operator, or one that implies the ownership participation of others such as "Brothers", "Sons", "Associates", "Company"; or if a corporation owner, a name different from that registered in the Articles of Incorporation.
7. QUESTION: What is the purpose of the fictitious name procedure?
ANSWER: The requirements have been in effect in California since 1872 and are designed to protect the consumer by enabling him to identify the person or persons with whom he is really dealing.
8. QUESTION: Must all firms presently doing business under fictitious names file new statements?
ANSWER: Yes, all must refile under new code sections of the Business and Professions Code, 17900-17930 and also Sections 7540 and 101595 and Section 10522.5 of the Business and Professions Code.
9. QUESTION: Is it true that a mere change in the residence address of an individual or general partner doing business under a registered fictitious name excuses the party at the five year refiling interval from meeting the publication provision which requires a new publication "if there has been a change of information in the expired statement"?
ANSWER: The wording, "change in the residence address" in Section 17920 of Business and Professions Code is confusing: It has reference only to the statutory expiration of any Fictitious Business Name Statement "40 days after any change in the facts." Changes in residence address are specifically exempted from the changes which invalidate a fictitious name filing. The requirements for publication with "any change in the information" is in Section 17917 of the Business and Professions Code. It is not related to the exemption in Section 17920. It has been held that change in any residential address, as well as business address, is a "change in information" and will therefore require republication upon renewal at the end of any five year renewal period.
10. QUESTION: Must statements filed in 1972 be refiled in 1977, those filed in 1973 in 1978, and so on?
ANSWER: Yes, statements must be refiled every five years.
11. QUESTION: What is the penalty for failure to file and publish?
ANSWER: One penalty will be inability to entertain a court action until the law has been complied with. In addition, most banks demand evidence of filing and publication prior to opening an account under a fictitious name.
12. QUESTION: On a first filing must there be a newspaper publication?
ANSWER: Yes, the refiling law does not excuse first filers from meeting the statutory publishing requirements.
13. QUESTION: Where are the printed forms to be obtained for this filing and publication procedure?
ANSWER: Free forms and service are available at this newspaper office or at any office of the County Clerk.
14. QUESTION: What is the cost of filing and publication?
ANSWER: Statutory filing fee for the Fictitious Name Statement, either new or refiled, inclusive of mandatory certification of a copy by the County Clerk, is $10.00. Publication charge for the four insertions of the notice is determined by the newspaper.
15. QUESTION: Can two fictitious name businesses operating under different names of the same address and owned by the same person or persons be filed and published under a single statement?
ANSWER: Yes, more than one business name can be listed on the single statement provided all have the same address of business. Each separate business is to be indicated.
16. QUESTION: After January 1, 1976, will all new filings require publication?
ANSWER: All new filings will require publication.
17. QUESTION: Precisely what is the process for publishing?
ANSWER: Publication must be made once a week for four weeks in a qualified newspaper circulating in the area of the affected business. Publication must be commenced within 30 days after filing. And proof of publication must be filed with the County Clerk within 30 days after completion of publication.
18. QUESTION: What other values do registrants gain through publication of Fictitious Firm Name?
ANSWER: Evidential proof of priority is established in the event competitors later use or file under the same name. Also, there is direct advertising value for the firm through multiple insertions of name and address of the business, it being noted that newspaper frequently print such names in black face type in capital letters, separately spaced.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION PLEASE PHONE —

LEGAL DEPARTMENT

REFILING must be done by Dec. 31st.

We would suggest you take care of your filing as early as possible; due to mail service and the county clerk's heavy load of applications, we cannot be responsible for any late submissions.

Joyce Brothers

He is henpecked

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My father has become a henpecked husband since he retired a few years ago. This irritates me and I'm shocked by my mother's behavior because she was not an aggressive woman. She was very motherly and concerned about my father and her children. My wife feels they're going through second childhood. We thought that they might now share in our children's life but instead they are planning a trip. I should say my mother is planning, and my father is going along like a robot. — R.V.

DEAR R.V.: Don't worry about your parents. They may be much better adjusted and much happier than you realize. I'm sure they are interested in you and your children but they also might be eager to enjoy real freedom from responsibility now.

There is no need to feel sorry for your father. Often, parenthood forces a man and woman to cling to the role of father and mother beyond the period when they enjoy it. Now that their children are grown and mature, neither your father nor mother has any special responsibility for you so they should be allowed to enjoy their freedom in whatever way they choose.

Thus, a woman may reclaim her aggressiveness, while the husband may welcome his more submissive, dependent role. This switching may come as a relief and provide a needed change of pace.

You and your wife might learn from your parents and try occasionally changing roles now rather than allowing yourselves to be trapped in a pattern that may, at times, make you feel rebellious and uncomfortable.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS. Last year a teacher called to say my daughter had cheated on tests and that this had occurred more than once. We've noticed that she even cheats at games and usually manipulates things so she wins. Her older brothers have been patient and used to laugh or pretend they didn't notice. Now, as she grows older, they're beginning to expect more. I don't know what caused this or what to do about it. — I.S.

DEAR I.S.: Children usually cheat because they have a desperate need to win. They are afraid that if they don't win, or don't get good marks they'll be rejected by their parents and looked down on by brothers, sisters and friends.

Parents often aren't aware how much they're pressuring their children, especially in large families, where the younger brothers and sisters are constantly being compared with the older children. Even teachers tend to measure one child by another's standards. If an older sibling had been a good student, the younger child will be pressed to do as well. This can make the youngster loathe the older brother or sister and it may create a feeling of inadequacy and panic.

You can help to overcome this by stressing your daughter's positive qualities and avoid having her compete with others in the family. Treat her as an individual. However, never let her get away with cheating. Let her know it's good to lose and to make errors, for that is the way she will learn.

Doesn't intend to sit on sidelines

Ford: not true I'm depressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says it is "just not true" that he has been depressed and reclusive since losing the election last month, and in fact he intends to be active in Republican politics.

Ford's denial of published reports of his depressed mood was relayed to reporters by his press secretary, Ron Nessen, after the President met with members of the Republican national executive committee at the White House.

Ford told the Republicans he plans to remain active in party affairs but does not plan to be a candidate for public office, Nessen said.

"Having dedicated 28 years of my life to the principles I believe in, I don't intend to sit on the sidelines," Nessen quoted Ford as saying to the Republicans. "To the degree I can be helpful, I'll be working with you."

Ford avoided taking a stand on the first problem facing GOP leaders, selection of a successor to Mary Louise Smith as national chairman.

Nessen said Ford's only suggestion was for a selection that does not divide the party.

Asked if that might rule out Ronald Reagan or the leader of some extreme element of the party, Nessen replied that the chairmanship was discussed only in general terms.

According to Nessen, who sat in on the meeting, Ford talked mostly about the need to rebuild the party from the grass roots upward, starting with an effort to recruit good candidates in 1978.

He mentioned particularly the need to get Republicans elected to state legislatures, so they can take part in the redistricting process that will occur at the end of the decade.

Ford also took part in discussions about the establishment of a party coordinating committee, composed of GOP office holders from all levels. A similr comittee was formed after the party's 1964 election debate and helped build in 1966 and 1968.

Mixed reaction to air bag decision

DETROIT (AP) — The federal government's decision not to require air bags in new cars has drawn praise from the nation's biggest auto companies and criticism from their longtime critic, Ralph Nader.

An auto insurance official said the decision was unlikely to have much impact on insurance rates.

Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. announced that passive restraint devices — of which air bags are the best known — would not be mandatory until the 1981 model year at the earliest.

He said he was sure air bags could save lives and prevent injuries, but that because of "public opposition" he was proposing instead a demonstration program involving a half million 1979 and 1980 models.

Air bags are inflatable cushions hidden inside the dashboard or steering wheel. They inflate in less than one twenty-fifth of a second to cushion the occupants when sensors at the front of the car detect a colision.

General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. said they agreed that any air bag requirements should be put off for further testing.

"We concur with Secretary Coleman's conclusion that the air bag needs further testing," a Chrysler spokesman said. "Unlike safety belts, whose life saving ability is thoroughly established, air bag performance in real-life crashes remains an unknown quantity."

But Nader, a specialist in auto safety, said Coleman's announcement "will doom thousands of Americans to needless death and injury on the highway." He said it "may make the auto industry happy but it is one which will go down in the history of auto safety as a massive act of irresponsibility."

BIONIC NUPTIALS — Lindsay Wagner, who plays Jamie Sanders in the television series, The Bionic Woman, and actor Michael Brandon have announced their engagement. They plan to be married in Los Angeles later this month.

Warner to film 'A Night'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Director Lina Wertmuller will start her first English-language film in Calabria, Italy, on Jan. 3, Warner Brothers announces.

The new movies is tentatively titled "A Night Full of Rain" and it features Ciancarlo Giannini and Candice Bergen as married journalists. Miss Wertmuller wrote the script.

CLO to offer 'Irma la Douce'

The Los Angeles Civic Light Opera will open its 40th season with a presentation of the musical comedy hit, "Irma la Douce," in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center May 3.

Because of the continuing demand for tickets to "A Chorus Line," CLO has again made a special arrangement with the Shubert Theatre to enable CLO subscribers to obtain preferred seating for the musical at discount prices.

Other attractions already announced for the season include Debbie Reynolds starring as sharpshooter Annie Oakley in a new production of Irving Berlin's "Annie Get Your Gun," and Liza Minnelli, as the star of "In Person," a new musical play written especially for her by George Furth, aurthor of "Company."

This year's optional event at the Music Center will be the return of "The Wiz" which CLO will bring back to the Ahmanson Theater. The musical stage version of "The Wizard of Oz" last summer broke all records in Ahmanson history, with never an unsold seat throughout its engagement. CLO subscribers will have first choice of seating at their usual discount prices for this extra attraction.

CLO is now mailing renewal brochures to all its present subscribers, and will open its rolls to newcomers shortly after the first of the year. Information may be obtained by telephoning (213) 972-7550.

SKY'S THE LIMIT — Marlon Brando plays Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls," to be shown on KTLA, Channel 5, at 8 p.m. Dec. 16. This is one in the series, IBM Presents Movies To Remember. Brando made his Broadway debut in "I Remember Mama" at the age of 15. He later won Academy Awards for his performances in "On the Waterfront" and "The Godfather."

Philharmonic wows Europe

The Hungarian Daily News headlined "Budapest audience overwhelmed" after concerts by the Los Angeles Philharmonic in Hungary's capital Nov. 22 and 23.

For the first Iron Curtain country appearances of their current State Department — sponsored tour of Eastern Europe, music director Zubin Mehta and the Philharmonic were greeted by capacity audiences looking forward to the first performance in memory of an American symphony orchestra in Hungary.

"After the Philharmonic's playing of Bartok's Concerto for Orchestra," said a report form the American Embassy in Budapest, "the customarily reserved Hungarian audience abandoned all restraint and in a crescendo of rhythmic waves, applauded and shouted itself hoarse with bravos, only to do it all over again, doubled and redoubled, at the end of the performance of Mahler's First Symphony."

The embassy's report continued: "After — an encore of Dvorak's Slavonic Dance No. 8, the audience continued its waves of applause until an unprecedented second encore, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." After that, the only way to get the audience out of the hall was for maestro Mehta to finally lead his musicians off stage."

An U.S. Embassy official called the Orchestra's visit the "largest-scale American cultural manifestation in Hungary ever."

The Budapest critics were unanimous in their praise. Peter Varnai, Hungary's senior and most respected music critic, said: "The Los Angeles Philharmonic definitely represents a virtuoso type of which the most outstanding European equivalent would be Karajan's Berlin Orchestra."

Of Mehta, Varnai wrote: "His artistry has grown to full depth and proportions."

GUESS WHO'S BACK IN CHINO?
ROGER & JOE, THE ORIGINAL OWNERS OF PEPPINO'S PIZZA PARLOR, ARE BACK and are inviting all their old friends to stop in to see them.
What does this mean to new Chino residents? It means one of the best homemade pizzas in the world is again available right here in Chino!
However, asking someone who has tried their pizza may not be an easy task; after a three-year absence, Roger and Joe find most of their old "standing room only" business is gone; so they've got to start again from scratch.
"Standing room only?" That's the way it was and here's why . . .
They make each pizza from fresh bread dough, using a semi-thin, semi-thick crust that comes out deliciously golden brown and easy to digest, (not like a loaf of raw bread or a sheet of pressed flat cardboard.) On top of this they put their own pizza sauce, not some canned concoction, then fresh meats. Nothing precooked, and fresh, that's right, fresh vegetables, nothing canned and soggy. It's a very special pizza, and they'd like very much to have you try it because they're sure once you do you'll be back again.
So to encourage you to stop in, they are making the following special offer:
$2.00 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA
Good until December 18th - One to a customer
Now that's a good deal, so take advantage of it! Also available: Great salads, spaghetti, ravioli, sandwiches, and soon to have Italian dinners.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW ARE COINS MADE?" — ANTHONY SCOTT TAUNTON, MA

A. COINS ARE MADE BY CUTTING COIN-SIZED BLANKS FROM SHEETS OF COIN METAL AND STAMPING A DESIGN ON BOTH SIDES.

© 1976 by NEA, Inc. T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. DICK ROGERS 12/8

Coins are made in a factory called a mint.

To make pennies and nickels, an alloy (mixture of metals) is made by melting copper and zinc together for pennies. Nickel and copper are used to make nickels.

The alloy is pressed into sheets about as thick as the finished coin. A machine cuts the sheets into round blanks — "coins" without a design. Each blank then goes into a machine that makes a raised rim around its edge. Next, the penny and nickel blanks are fed into coining machines that stamp a design on each side. Dimes, quarters, half dollars, and "silver" dollars are cut out and stamped with designs, too. They are made of a layer of copper sandwiched between two layers of nickel. Besides stamping these coins, the press squeezes ridges called "reedings" on the edges.

Saints prepare for rugged assignment

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

It will be David vs. Goliath Friday night when San Dimas High tackles Antelope Valley High in the semifinals of the CIF 2A football playoffs.

The game is set for an 8 p.m. start Friday at Antelope Valley High in Lancaster.

The "David" in Friday's semifinal matchup is distinctly San Dimas.

Although the Saints' season mark (11-1-0) is very similar to Antelope Valley's (11-0-1), the locals still go into Friday's contest as heavy underdogs.

The reasons behind the odds are simple. Antelope Valley is the top-seeded team in the 2A Division and has chaulked up three straight impressive wins in playoff activity. The Antelopes have beaten Montview League power Workman (48-13), Frontier League champ Channel Islands (34-16) and Orange League runnerup Esperanza (42-6).

San Dimas started playoff activity in impressive fashion with a big 55-13 win over Indio, but since have struggled to beat Northview (26-19) and Agoura (29-26).

Antelope Valley's big edge is in numbers, according to Saint coach Bob Baiz.

"They have around 3,000 students to our 1,100," Baiz notes. "That doesn't necessarily mean they have better talent than us but it does mean that have that many more kids to choose from.

"They look impressive on film, they're very large and very quick. They have a fine quarterback and two good runners.

"It's kind of a shame that we have to play a school so much bigger than ourselves, but that's the way the 2A Division is. You just have to accept it and play your best."

Baiz is also concerned with the climate in the Lancaster area.

"We understand the last two weekends it's been between 20 and 30 degrees up there, which is just something else our kids will have to adjust to, along with the long bus ride up there."

The Antelope Valley quarterback is Ed t'Sas, a talented senior who had a big game last week as the Antelopes blasted a good Esperanza club, 42-6.

Top Antelope runner is tailback Bill Hilliker, who has 1,600 yards rushing this year and has scored 20 touchdowns. He is joined in the backfield by fullback Lee D'Errico, a rugged 5-10, 205-pound junior who ripped off 131 yards on only 11 carries vs. Esperanza.

Of course, the Saints have some impressive individual and team stats of their own.

Fullback Bob Pleasant continued his remarkable playoff form with 247 yards rushing on 23 carries vs. Agoura. The Saint senior now has 1,638 yards on the ground this fall and has scored 21 touchdowns.

Halfback Perry Aris closed in on the 1,000-yard rushing mark last week with 80 hard-earned yards vs. Agoura. Aris, a junior, now has 991 yards in 12 games.

The Saints wound up out-gaining Agoura 331-283 last week, the 12th straight week they have outgained the opposition. However, the 26 points by Agoura was the most surrendered by San Dimas this year, and the Saint defense will have to tighten up vs. Antelope Valley Friday.

Garey, Alta Loma meet again

Rematch set tonight

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Garey High and Alta Loma, the finalists in the 1975 Upland-Montclair Basketball Tournament, will meet at Upland tonight at 6:30 in the second round of this year's U-M tourney.

The Vikings and Braves barely slipped by their opposition in Tuesday's opening-round action at the Highlander gym. Defending champion Garey edged Azusa, 64-62, and Alta Loma held off a late Claremont surge for a 61-58 victory.

Nogales edged Duarte, 72-71, by scoring with four seconds left to play and host Upland won the only romp of the day, 71-38 over Bonita.

The Highlanders will face Nogales at 8 p.m. in tonight's final game. Consolation bracket games scheduled for this afternoon were Azusa against Claremont (3:15 p.m.) and Duarte against Bonita (4:45 p.m.). The Wolfpack has already defeated Azusa once this season, 46-42.

Claremont staged a fourth-quarter rally Tuesday afternoon but fell short in its bid to overtake Alta Loma. The 'Pack started the final period down by seven points, 51-44, but guard Derek Ketcham grabbed a loose ball and scored to put Claremont just one point behind, 59-58, with 34 seconds left.

But Alta Loma coach Jeff McCall called time out with 10 seconds on the clock and when the Braves brought the ball back into play, Brave guard John Conger slipped away from his coverage and took the pass and layed it in to clinch the game.

Alta Loma's Rich Davis led all scorers with 19 points and teammate Jeff Anderson was next with 15. Conger added 12 and Kevin Comstock chipped in with 11.

The Wolfpack's Derek Britton and Ray Kwiatek each had 12, Kelly Gordien scored 11 and Kevin Rullman and Ketcham added 10 apiecse. Alta Loma pulled out the game at the foul line, making 11 of 13 to Claremont's two of three.

James Lofton scored 16 points, Al Clay 13 and Herbi Banks 12 in Garey's lackluster win over Azusa.

Azusa tied the game at 51 with 3:39 to play but two baskets each by Clay and Banks gave Garey the lead for good.

Upland forward Brian Patterson scored 22 points and all 13 of his teammates added at least a point in the Scots' big win. Keith Knight led Bonita with 13 points.

Upland's Craig Sanders entered the game in the fourth quarter to score 11 points.

Nogales' Greg Coleman made both ends of a one-and-one foul situation with four seconds left for the Nobles' 72-71 win. Nogales trailed by as much as 12 in the game.

Rebounding key in Damien win

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
PB Correspondent

The Damien High Spartans, using a bruising board game and a stiff defense, destroyed the visiting Saints from San Dimas, 62-42, Tuesday night in La Verne.

Howard Penwitt and Bill Duffy combined for 30 points and 18 rebounds as the Spartans came away with their first victory of the year against two losses. San Dimas is still looking for its first win, but as coach Bob Espinoza remarked, "We are going without five of our players who, if nothing else, should help our rebounding game." The players referred to are still on the Saint football team as it heads for the semifinals in the CIF 2A playoffs.

Penwitt and Scott Bell scored all of Damien's 12 first-quarter points and then Penwitt and Duffy put in 22 over the second and third periods when the Spartans jumped out to a 33-point lead, 54-21.

Meanwhile, the Saints were having their hands full with the Damien defense, coupled with the fact that they couldn't shoot effectively. San Dimas shot 35 percent from the floor, 13 of 35 shots, and 44 percent from the free throw line, 14 for 30.

Mark Klein, center for the Saints, was top scorer for San Dimas with nine points, but it was probably a game Klein would like to forget, hitting only two of 12 shots and missing eight of 13 free throws. Klein did have a fine defensive game, having a blocked shot and eight rebounds.

Phil Lemel came off the Saint's bench to put in six points and grab five rebounds, but by then Damien had sewn the game up.

Both teams take today and Thursday off to prepare for the beginning of the San Dimas Tournament that opens Friday afternoon at 3 p.m. at San Dimas High and continues until Monday night's championship round at the La Verne Supertent.

Braves hope to keep star

BUFFALO (AP) — Buffalo Braves owner Paul Snyder said today he would try to work out contract differences with Bob McAdoo rather than trade him.

Snyder's brief announcement through publicity director Mike Shaw appeared to at least temporarily stem hopes by both the New York Knicks and the Seattle SuperSonics of getting the three-time National Basketball Association scoring leader.

"Snyder is now leaning toward not dealing McAdoo to the Knicks and there is a good possibility we may not trade McAdoo to anyone at all," Shaw quoted Snyder as saying, adding that the owner said he would "try to work out the differences with McAdoo with or without his agent."

McAdoo now receives $400,000 a year and has reportedly turned down a five-year, $2.5 million contract.

While Shaw spoke at team headquarters, McAdoo was on a team plane en route to Philadelphia, where Snyder said he would play for the Braves tonight.

The Knicks thought they had a lock on McAdoo, if he were to be traded, but late Tuesday, Seattle owner Sam Schulman said he had reached a purchase agreement with Snyder.

Snyder denied that report.

Schulman told the Seattle Post-Intelligencer he expected McAdoo to undergo a physical examination Thursday and that he hoped to have the full trade completed in time for Sonics' game against Golden State.

The Sonics' owner neither confirmed nor denied previous reports that McAdoo was obtained in exchange for center Tommy Burleson, forward Leonard Gray and $2 million.

However, Schulman said he had talked with New York lawyer Bill Madden, McAdoo's agent, "and I found him to be very understanding.

"I really do not anticipate any problems in our reaching a fair agreement, and that is why I feel confident in going ahead with the deal under these circumstances."

Wolverines are pick over USC

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The Michigan Wolverines are six-point favorites over Southern California in the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl matchup, according to the line posted Tuesday by Harrah's Reno-Tahoe Racebook.

Other bowl game odds: Orange Bowl, Ohio State over Colorado by six; Sugar, Pittsburgh over Georgia by two; Cotton, Maryland and Houston even; Liberty, UCLA over Alabama by three; Fiesta, Oklahoma over Wyoming by 18; Gator, Notre Dame over Penn State by four; Peach, Kentucky over North Carolina by five; Astro-Bluebonnet, Nebraska over Texas Tech by two; Sun, Texas A&M over Florida by six.

Ontario upsets Ganesha

By MARK GRIP
PB Correspondent

Ontario High downed Ganesha 75-63 in a mild upset that highlighted action in the Upland-Montclair Tournament Tuesday at Montclair High.

In other games, Pomona slipped by Charter Oak 65-63, La Puente Wilson beat Northview 65-54, and co-host Montclair drubbed Gladstone 73-58 in the late game.

Ontario and Pomona will do battle this evening at 6:30 p.m. and Wilson will meet Montclair tonight at 8 p.m. in the winners bracket at the Montclair gym.

In games played earlier today, Ganesha met Charter Oak at 3:15 and Northview squared off with Gladstone at 4:45.

Ontario pleased its fans with a big win over Ganesha one of the tourneys' favorites.

Otis Manning's nine points led the Jaguars to a 23-12 lead. At intermission the Jag's held the same 11-point margin at 36-25 thanks to some good defense.

Ganesha pulled to within three points with two-and-a-half minutes remaining in the third quarter, but Ontario fought back to lead 56-47 after three periods.

In the final stanza, Ontario led by as much as 18 points with four minutes left to play and finished on top by 12 tallies.

Manning led all scorers with 21 points followed by Giants James Verdon and Steve Polee both with 20.

Pomona and Charter Oak seesawed the lead back-and-forth in their low-scoring contest.

Charter Oak led by four points after the first quarter, but the Devils fought back to lead at half-time by one.

After the Lancers took a one-point lead after three periods, Pomona held a six-point advantage with 31 seconds to play and held on to win by two markers.

Lancer center Robert Heundl led all scorers with 31 points followed by Devils Floyd Mixon and Louis Cole each with 14.

After Montclair held a four-point edge after the first eight minutes, Gladstone got back into the lead for a 25-24 halftime lead.

Montclair's Scott Arthur poured in 14 points in the third period to give the Cavaliers a nine-point lead. With the help of a 27-point fourth quarter, the Cav's won by 15.

Gladiator Greg Sieger scored 25 points before receiving two technical fouls back-to-back, which ejected him from the game. Arthur finished the night with 22 points.

Gilmore, Bulls surprise Lakers

CHICAGO (AP) — Artis Gilmore says he's gaining more confidence as a National Basketball Association center which is good news for the Chicago Bulls.

Gilmore poured in 22 points and held Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to only 13 Tuesday night as the Bulls whipped the Lakers 89-81 for their second straight triumph after 13 setbacks in a row.

"If I had success tonight, it was because of our guards. They did the job," said Gilmore. "As for me, I know I have a lot more confidence and I'm learning our offense."

Abdul-Jabbar, meanwhile, admitted that he played poorly but declined to compare Gilmore, a former stand-out in the American Basketball Association, with other NBA centers.

"It was probably my worst night of the year," Abdul-Jabbar said. "I could not go inside and they were not getting the ball to me."

"I get double teamed a lot. In fact, that's the only way I can be defensed," he added. "I don't like to compare opposing centers, but if I can go one-on-one against Gilmore, I'll get the ball in the hoop."

Norm Van Lier and Scott May combined for 17 fourth-quarter points while a rugged Bulls defense held Los Angeles to 11 points to key the victory.

Chicago outscored the Lakers 11-1 during the first four minutes of the final period while Abdul-Jabbar was riding the bench with five fouls.

Los Angeles had taken a 70-63 lead at the end of three quarters, but the hot shooting of Van Lier, May and Mickey Johnson, who shared game-high scoring honors with Gilmore with 22 points, brought Chicago back.

Lucius Allen and Cazzie Russell led Los Angeles with 18 points apiece.

"There was a complete breakdown on my team's part in the fourth quarter," said Lakers Coach Jerry West. "They didn't shoot well and they made so many turnovers it became useless."

Hope proceeds over $5 million

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Proceeds from the yearly Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament have passed the $5 million mark with the distribution of the 1976 event's total of $682,068 to the Eisenhower Medical Center and 28 other desert charities, a tournament official announced.

In recent years, the Hope tournament has led all others in its charity endeavors and has now raised nearly $5.2 million exclusively for desert charities, said Jack Clark Jr., president of the 1976 event.

Utah hires L.B. coach

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — After a search for a coach who had led football teams back to life after losing seasons, the University of Utah announced the hiring Tuesday of a man who's done it three times — Wayne Howard of Long Beach State.

Howard, 45, replaces head Coach Tom Lovat, fired after completing his third losing season with a 5-28 over-all record.

Howard is credited with building winning teams at Long Beach, University of California at Riverside and Gavilan Junior College, all in California. He had a 23-10 record in three years at Long Beach of the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference.

Arnie Ferrin, Utah athletic director, told a news conference that the main criteria in making the selection were "to find someone who had taken over a losing situation, turned it into a winner and had head coaching experience."

Howard has been quoted as saying originally he was not interested in the Utah job because of the problems of moving his family and the families of his assistant coaches.

He said he changed his mind because he liked the people he would be working with and because of the excitement of building up a team. He said his salary, which was not disclosed, was "not a major factor."

He told a news conference he would bring to Utah as many members of his staff as wanted to come with him. He said he stressed loyalty at Long Beach and expected his staff to go with him wherever he is assigned.

Idaho St. appeals to local cagers

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

There must be something about Pocatello, Idaho which appeals to Southern Californians.

Charlie Fenske, an assistant coach at Idaho State, was a special guest Tuesday at the weekly basketball luncheon at The Castaway Restaurant.

Fenske, who will be in the Southland throughout December scouting prep tournaments, came with Gene Victor of Mt. San Antonio College.

"California has been good territory for us," Fenske said. "We have Jeff Cook (6-10) from Edgewood High plus two area freshmen in Mark McQuaid from Chaffey and Paul Wilson from Fontana. McQuaid, who broke his hand early in practice, is playing now and is a very aggressive player and is sound defensively."

Why do Southern Californians go to Idaho State?

"I think the main reason is coach (Jim) Killingsworth. His reputation speaks for itself. Also our Minidome (capacity 12,000) is a selling point," he said.

Killingsworth formerly coached at Cerritos College.

Citrus' Eric Childs, who was selected to the Don Edwards Tournament all-tournament team, was voted the Player of the Week for his 63 points and 28 rebounds in the three games in the tournament.

Quoting the coaches:

NEIL EDWARDS, Citrus: "We had 11 more field goals in our losses to Grossmont and Cerritos but couldn't make our free throws. We're also giving up a lot of second shots. We go to Las Vegas this weekend to play the UNLV junior varsity team. Our football quarterback, Dale Bunn, is a new addition to our team."

GENE VICTOR, MSAC: "We had three wins last week but we didn't play real good teams. We have so many guys banged up and sick. I'm not even sure what our starting lineup will look like. We host East L.A. Friday night. Hopefully, we'll improve."

DON HOGAN, Cal Poly: "We came out of our trip to Dayton, South Carolina, Notre Dame and Kansas State physically intact but I'm not certain about our emotional state. We need a win but we face a tough one Friday night at Southern California College. Guard Tom Ispas and forward Henry Randolph showed me a lot on the trip."

DAVE WELLS, Claremont-Mudd: "We're 1-3. With a little bit of luck, we could be 2-2. We're much improved this year. I am displeased with our lack of consistency. We're fouling too much and turning the ball over too much. We have our work cut out for us this weekend by visiting Cal Lutheran Friday and hosting Point Loma Saturday."

CLIFF HAMLOW, Azusa Pacific: "We're 2-2. I thought we played very well in beating Hastings, 68-63, at the Redlands Tournament. We play Pepperdine and Cal State Fullerton this weekend in the Malibu Classic. It would really be an upset for us to beat either team. We're happy about having only 11 turnovers at Redlands in the three games."

ART BIAS, La Verne: "We lost to Hastings and beat Westmont in overtime last week. We're playing better ball with more concentration and better execution. It was a team effort against Westmont with all nine players doing the job. We visit Point Loma Friday and host Cal Baptist Saturday."

Knights post first triumph

Ontario Christian High scored its first win of the year Tuesday night, downing the visiting Bloomington High cagers 63-51.

In other games, Chaffey High dropped its opening tilt in the Arroyo Tournament, 59-53 to San Gabriel, while Calvary Baptist fell to South Bay Baptist 63-57 in the cage opener for both teams.

Ontario Christian evened its season mark at 1-1 with the win over Bloomington. Hank Bouwman led the way with 21 points while teammate Jim Berkompas chipped in with 20.

Chaffey saw its season mark fall to 0-2 with the loss to San Gabriel. San Gabriel center Mike Mowry led all scorers with 16 points, while Chaffey's Randy Wenzel totalled 13 in the losing effort.

Calvary center Robert Turner pumped in 28 points and pulled down 12 rebounds, but it wasn't enough to offset a 31-point effort by South Bay's Mike Booth. Calvary lost the game at the charity stripe, making only 11 of 24 free throws to nine of 12 for the hosts.

Prep action today and tonight, in addition to the Upland-Montclair Tourney, will have Webb School hosting the Upland High J.V.s at 3:15 p.m., Walnut in action in the Laguna Beach Tourney, and Chaffey playing Edgewood in the Arroyo Tourney (at 4:30 p.m.).
